EDWARD VII. ENGAGED WITH FUNERAL PROGRAM.

A REHEARSAL AT OSBORNE

PRACTICE HAD WITH DUMMY COFFIN.

WHY KAISER WENT TO COWES

A WEIRD STORY PRINTED BY BERLIN JOURNAL

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 29.—King Edward left Cowes for London this morning.

The duke of York is suffering from the strain of recent events and has been confined to his room since Thursday. It is feared he will be unable to take part in the ceremonies of Friday.

The only American wreath which has arrived at Osborne so far is one from Mrs. Sydney Everett, of Boston, who is staying on the Isle of Wight. It is inscribed: "In token of life-long veneration and reverence."

The outer coffin arrived last night. The non-commissioned officers detailed to carry the coffin rehearsed today with a dummy coffin filled with sand and weighing over half a ton.

The main wing of Osborne house is expected to become the residence of Princess Beatrice in her capacity as governor of the Isle of Wight. The other part of the house will be reserved for the king.

Gen. Sir Dighton Probyn, comptroller and treasurer of the household of the prince of Wales since 1877, is mentioned as likely to succeed Lord Edward Pelham-Clinton as master of the household. The office is in the personal gift of the king.

Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark is expected to arrive in London tomorrow. Prince Henry of Prussia sailed from Keil yesterday on board the German battleship Baden, accompanied by the coast defense ship Hagen. Prince George of Saxony is prevented by influenza from coming to the funeral. Prince John George will take his place.

Duke Albrecht will represent the king of Wurtemburg. The crown prince, Ferdinand of Roumania, is expected Thursday night in London. The Orleans family will be represented by the duke of Chartres, younger brother of the late count of Paris; the duke of Alecon and the count of Eu, sons of the late duke of Nemours, between whom and the late queen, in 1838, Louisa Philippe proposed to arrange a marriage.

KING REACHES LONDON.

London, Jan. 29.—King Edward and the duke of Cambridge arrived in London at 3 o'clock this afternoon. A large crowd welcomed the king at Victoria station. His majesty will finally approve of the funeral arrangements during the course of the afternoon. There is a great deal of surmise as to what disposal will be made of the king's late residence. Both the king and Queen Alexandria are devoted to Sandringham, so his majesty will probably retain that place; but it is thought Marlborough house will be given up. In the event of the duke and duchess of York not desiring to reside there, it is considered likely that William K. Vanderbilt will purchase the place for the duke and duchess of Marlborough, of which the duchess has long desired to obtain possession.

This morning there was a rehearsal along the route of the funeral procession. The eight Hanoverian horses which will draw the gun carriage, took a heavily laden brake, estimated to be of the weight of the gun carriage and coffin, over the route. Numerous carriages followed and a number of mounted men representing the foreign princes and others who will ride in the procession.

It has been arranged that the Eton Boys will line the route from the Long Walk gates to Windsor castle, while the military knights of Windsor will be on duty in the chapel during the funeral services.

THE FUNERAL PROGRAM.

It is now understood the funeral program in London will be approximately as follows:

A sovereign's escort of 100 life guards, the massed bands of three regiments of foot guards; Field Marshal Earl Roberts and the headquarters staff; an army gun carriage with the body; the king, supported by the German emperor; the king of Portugal and the other reigning sovereigns in the order of precedence; the dukes of Connaught and York; the equerries and aides-de-camp in attendance on royal personages; Queen Alexandra, the duchess of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha and other royal princesses, in four carriages deeply draped, and, in the rear of the procession, another sovereign's escort of 100 life guards.

A SENSATIONAL STORY.

Berlin, Jan. 29.—The Vorwaerts (socialist organ) today printed a remarkable story to the effect that Emperor William's sudden departure for England was not only due to a desire to bid farewell to his dying grandmother, but still more to the prince of Wales' urgent wish to settle a private debt to the emperor before ascending the throne.

This debt, the Vorwaerts asserted, amounted to 24,000,000 marks, which Emperor Frederick, immediately after beginning his reign, loaned the prince of Wales in order to place the latter in a position to pay accumulated debts to the amount of 24,000,000 marks.

The loaned money, it was further asserted, was part of the savings, amounting to 56,000,000 marks, left by Emperor William I. Count Von Stolberg, then minister of the imperial household, the Vorwaerts also said, vainly opposed the paying out of the 24,000,000 marks and thereupon resigned.

THE RESOLUTIONS STOPPED

KENTUCKY MATTER HELD OUT OF ORDER IN SENATE.

Senate Adopts Favorable Reports on Anti-Subsidy and Anti-Trust Bills—The House.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Indianapolis, Jan. 29.—In the senate today Senator Stillwell, of Gibson county, offered a resolution calling on Governor Durbin to honor a requisition for the return of Taylor and Finley to Kentucky in case application is made by Governor Beckham. The resolution was declared out of order.

The senate adopted favorable reports on the anti-railway subsidy bill and the anti-trust bill introduced by Senator Agnew.

In the house a bill was introduced to provide for a man on the board for the government of the woman's prison. The bill is the result of the current scandals concerning the woman's prison here.

STATE SCANDAL IS ALLEGED.

Indianapolis, Jan. 29.—It having been stated that the various state institutions need thorough overhauling, a caucus of democratic members of the senate and house is booked for tonight. Prominent democrats from all over Indiana are expected. Measures will be inaugurated for a searching investigation. It is said a great deal of evidence has been collected and that it will be laid before the caucus. It includes charges of nepotism in many of the institutions, of cruelty at the women's reformatory, charges of a sensational character in connection with the institution for the deaf and dumb and general charges of extravagance and mismanagement. A complete investigation will be made of the purchase at a cost of $1,100 of a team and rig belonging to E. H. Nebeker by the board of the prison north.

The movement is to introduce a resolution calling for a non-partisan legislative investigation of the institution. If it be voted down the minority will appoint a committee of its own and the most minute infractions will be ventilated. It is said that much of the evidence obtained has been furnished by a republican member of the legislature, who has kept the democrats informed of republican party secrets, some quite sensational.

BILL TO LEGALIZE BOXING.

Indianapolis, Jan. 29.—A bill has been prepared and will be introduced in the legislature, which is intended to legalize prize fighting in Indiana, and it is said to be backed by Chicago parties, who were interested several years ago in the establishment of the O'Malley arena at Roby, which Governor Matthews invoked the militia to suppress. The bill is drawn along the line of the law under which O'Malley operated, and provides for scientific boxing and sparring exhibitions to be given under the auspices of athletic associations, which shall be incorporated under the proposed bill. The measure re-enacts the present anti-prize-fighting law, and excepts from its provisions such exhibitions of athletic skill as are conducted by the incorporated athletic associations.

SECRETARY OF STATE HAY'S REPORT TO CONGRESS.

Washington, Jan. 29.—A most important and interesting summary of what has been achieved by the United States in the direction of opening up and extending our markets abroad, is presented in the following letter from Secretary Hay, which was laid before congress today, accompanying the annual publication known as "Commercial Relations of the United States With Foreign Countries."

"Department of State, Washington, Jan. 26, 1901.—The President—In accordance with section 208, of the revised statutes, I have the honor to transmit the commercial relations of the United States with foreign countries during the year 1900, being the annual and other reports of a comprehensive character from the consular officers, together with similar reports from some of the diplomatic officers, upon the industries and commerce of foreign countries.

"These reports were prepared under special instructions from this department, with the object of laying before congress, with the least delay, a practically contemporaneous statement of the trade, not only of the United States with the rest of the world, but of the various countries with each other. This object, I am happy to be able to say, has been accomplished, the date of transmission to congress this year having been advanced over the usual time by a month, and realizing the utmost conditions of promptitude compatible with a proper analysis of the latest returns for the year 1900.

"So gratifying a result indicates continued improvement in the activity and zeal of our consular officers as well as in the system of publishing and distributing their reports.

"It may be said indeed, that, while a variety of propositions have been under discussion for the improvement of the consular service, the service has to a very considerable extent improved itself, and is winning frequent expressions of commendation from business interests which have received substantial aid, not only from the published reports, but also from the individual efforts of consular officers to meet the growing requirements of American industry and enterprise.

"The practical character of the commercial information obtained by our consuls, and the celerity with which it is given to the public continues to excite the emulation of foreign governments and during the past year steps have been taken by both Great Britain and Germany to engraft these features of our consular work upon their consular systems.

"The general conclusion to be drawn from a survey of the conditions in foreign countries, as described in the reports herewith presented, is that the United States is approaching, even more swiftly than was expected, a position of eminence in the world's markets, due to superior quality and greater cheapness of many lines of its manufactures, which must work great economic changes and may result in moving the center not only of industrial, but of commercial activity and the money power of the world to our marts.

"The trade indications of American supremacy during the past year have been so marked that many foreign industries, according to the reports of our consuls in Europe, are introducing American machinery and labor-saving appliances and remodelling their factory methods, and we may expect in the near future a more strenuous competition, for which it is important we should prepare ourselves.

"As an aid to such equipment, the study of the great mass of information as to foreign industries and trade conditions which is to be found in the two volumes of Commercial Relations, will obviously prove most useful to our manufacturers and exporters, and I, therefore, recommend that congress be requested to authorize, as was done last year, the printing of a special edition of 10,000 copies of the Review of the World's Commerce and 5,000 copies of Commercial Relations. John Hay."

LAW IS CONSTITUTIONAL.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 29.—In a unanimous opinion handed down today the supreme court sustained the constitutionality of the law taxing inheritances. An order was also granted by the court today in answer to ex-Governor Pingree's application directing the Ingham county circuit court to show cause why a writ should not issue prohibiting it from proceeding with the contempt case now pending against ex-Governor Pingree.

NO DANGER OF LYNCHING.

Maysville, Ky., Jan. 29.—William Gibson, who was yesterday indicted for the murder of a child at Cattlettsburg and who was brought to the Maysville jail after an exciting run by the officers to escape would-be lynchers, was taken back to Cattlettsburg jail today. It is not thought further efforts will be made to lynch him.

BIG BLAZE IN DES MOINES

IOWA CAPITAL SUFFERS LOSS OF HALF A MILLION.

Friedlich Clothing Firm, Formerly of Fort Wayne, Sustains a Loss of $30,000.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 29.—Property losses estimated at over half a million dollars were sustained in a fire early today in the business district of this city. The losses are estimated as follows:

Frankel Bros.' department store, $375,000; Younker Bros., $45,000; A. & E. Friedlich stock, $35,000; Utica Clothing company's bulding, $11,000; C. H. Seeley, $10,000; Des Moines National bank, $5,000; Marx building, $3,000; Sneer building, $3,000; C. W. Rogg company, $10,000; Iowa Telephone company, $7,000; Des Moines City railway company, $3,000; losses to occupants of office rooms, $60,000. It is stated that the losses are fully covered by insurance.

A patrolman discovered the fire shortly after 3 o'clock in the basement of Frankel Bros.' department store. A general alarm was turned in, but before the fire department could make any impression on the flames, which had by this time spread with remarkable rapidity through the building, it was seen that much valuable property adjoining was beginning to burn.

The firemen immediately gave up trying to save the Frankel building and devoted their energies to the surrounding property, consiting of the Des Moines National bank, the Utica Clothing company and the Seeley department store. All of the buildings caught fire repeatedly, but finally, at 6 o'clock, when only one wall of the six-story Frankel building remained upright, the danger of complete destruction to the business center was considered over.

Destruction of the electric light, telephone, telegraph and trolley wires caused much confusion during the morning. The street car service was almost entirely abandoned and many factories depending upon electricity for power were compelled to remain closed during the day.

WILL BUILD A CHURCH.

The Presbyterian congregation at Ossian has decided to begin at once preparations for the erection of a handsome new church to cost from $8,000 to $12,000, and a location has already been purchased at the corner of Main and Lefever streets in that town. The building committee is composed of L. F. Wilson, chairman; J. H. Keefer, A. F. Roe, W. H. Rupright and G. A. Morton. They will proceed at once to secure an architect to make the drawings. Eight thousand dollars have been subscribed since January 1 for the new enterprise.

BUYS A RESIDENCE.

Attorney Owen N. Heaton today purchased the residence property at the northeast corner of Wayne and VanBuren streets, formerly owned by Mrs. White, for a consideration of about $5,000. Mr. Heaton will soon remove from Hoagland avenue to his new home. The transaction today was made through the agency of L. F. Curdes.

Patrol Driver Doyle was called home at noon today by the illness of his little daughter.

RENEWED THE ROW

TWO MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE GROWL AND GLOWER.

BIT OF JOBBERY AT ISSUE

CONCERNING THE SEIZURE OF INDIAN LANDS.

BOTH TREAD NEAR DANGER

SENATE PASSES THE INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL.

Washington, Jan. 29.—When the house convened today Mr. Stephens, of Texas, arose to a question of privilege in connection with the exchange which took place between himself and Mr. Flynn, the delegate from Oklahoma, just prior to adjournment yesterday, when the direct lie was almost passed.

Mr. Stephens read the language used by Mr. Flynn, in which the latter charged that Mr. Stephens had surreptitiously inserted in the bill to ratify the agreement with the Kiowas and Comanche Indians, which became a law June 6, 1900, a clause giving white settlers the right to take up such of these Indian lands as contained minerals.

Mr. Stephens said it was unfortunate for Mr. Flynn that he himself had introduced a bill in January, 1900, which contained the identical language which he now charged was surreptitiously inserted in the bill. He indignantly repelled the insinuation to which Mr. Flynn had given utterance.

Mr. Flynn arose and declared in even more specific language than he used yesterday that when the bill passed no one on the floor except Mr. Stephens knew the section was in the bill.

"Would we have allowed a section to go in," he asked, "which permitted whites to take, without compensation, lands we were allotting to the Indians?"

"Did you not introduce a bill containing similar language?" asked Mr. Stephens, who now confronted the irate Oklahoma delegate across the aisle.

"I had sufficient confidence in the gentleman at that time," retorted Mr. Flynn. "What led to the investigation which unearthed the facts," he continued, "was that the moment the bill passed the gentleman from Texas telegraphed his friends to go into the lands and locate claims."

"Did you not telegraph your friends?" interposed Mr. Stephens.

"Yes, that the bill had passed, but I insist that the investigation developed the fact that the gentleman from Texas was the only member of either house who knew the mining clause was in the bill."

"That statement," cried Mr. Stephens, raising his arm threateningly, "is utterly unfounded and I believe it is knowingly and maliciously made."

"That is strong language," retorted Mr. Flynn, who preserved his equanimity. "I received my information upon a visit to the reservation."

The members of the house at this point expected a sensational explosion, but the incident flattened out.

Mr. Stephens called upon Mr. Curtis, of Kansas, of the committee on Indian affairs, and Mr. Little, of Arkansas, who, he said, knew the section was in the bill, to bear testimony to that effect. Neither of the gentlemen appealed to arose. After a pause the speaker observed dryly: "The gentlemen do not seem to be rising."

This produced a burst of laughter, in the midst of which Mr. Little rose and said he supposed the house knew all about the section. He did, and was in favor of it.

"Did you know that it proposed to take the land of Indians without compensation?" asked Mr. Flynn.

Mr. Little replied that he knew the section was in the bill. The incident was cut short at this point by the ruling of the speaker that the matter was getting beyond the limits of the question of personal privilege. Thereupon Mr. Hull, of Iowa, called up the conference report upon the army re-organization bill and moved that the bill be sent back to conference. The parliamentary tangle resulting from the errors discovered in the original conference report was made the occasion of some sarcastic comment by Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, but after a brief wrangle the motion to send the bill back to conference was agreed to.

The house then went into committee of the whole and took up the agricultural appropriation bill. Mr. Wadsworth, chairman of the agricultural committee, explained the salient features of the measure, which carries $4,377,220, being an increase of $350,550 over the amount of the current law.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, Jan. 29.—In the senate today the credentials of Senator-elect J. R. Burton, of Kansas, and of Senator-elect R. J. Gamble, of South Dakota, were presented, Mr. Burton's by his predecessor, Mr. Baker, and Mr. Gamble's by Mr. Kyle.

At the conclusion of routine business consideration of the Indian appropriation bill was resumed.

The Indian appropriation bill finally was passed.

WOULD BUILD A CITY LINE

SOUTHWESTERN TRACTION CO. ASK FOR FRANCHISE.

Petition the Board for Grant of Streets to North Environs of the City.

At the meeting of the board of works held Monday afternoon the Southwestern Railroad company appeared with a petition for an additional franchise to operate an electric line on the streets of the city. The route named in the application was as follows: Beginning at the company's line at Fulton and Pearl streets, thence north to Superior street, west to Van Buren, north to Pape avenue, west to St. Mary's avenue, north to High street, west on High and Jessie to Runion avenue, north to Spring street, and west to the Grand Rapids and Indiana right of way.

From Fulton and Pearl and Harrison the company already has a franchise. This application was accompanied by a petition signed by nearly every property owner along the proposed line asking that the franchise be granted. Representatives of the company were present and said that they were willing to accept a franchise over the streets named on any reasonable terms the board might exact. They are willing to make provision for use of their tracks by any other interurban company under fair conditions and do not ask for a monopoly. They propose to commence work very soon after the franchise is granted and will soon have a first-class service in operation, pointing to the promptitude with which they commenced operations on the Huntington line as evidence of their ability and desire to build railroads on the streets and not on draughtsman's paper. The application and petition will be reviewed by the city attorney before any recommendations are made, but there is scarcely a doubt that the request will be granted, surrounded by proper precautions.

A CORRECTION.

New York, Jan. 29.—On January 19 a New York paper printed a special dispatch from Washington, which said that more than 80,000 pension claims in the office of Milo B. Stevens & Co. had been destroyed by fire. The subject matter of this dispatch was handled from New York. The Associated Press is informed by Milo B. Stevens & Co. that the papers destroyed were private records and included no applications, affidavits or other evidence sent them by their clients. The interruption to their business was very slight.

SUIT TO ENJOIN FIGHT.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 2.—Suit to enjoin the proposed Jeffries-Ruhlin contest, set for February 15 in this city, was filed in the court of common pleas today. Applications for an injunction was not made at that time. Judge Hollister, who is sitting in the common pleas room No. 1, where the hearing will be held, will be asked several days later to issue an injunction. In the interim notice will be served on the defendants.

TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL.

M. Baltes was taken suddenly ill at his home shortly after noon today and suffered a sinking spell as the result of some heart disturbance that for a time greatly alarmed the members of his family. Dr. E. J. McOscar was quickly summoned, and he says the patient's condition is now much more favorable.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Progressive Aid society will be held at the home of Mrs. Powers, 156 East Wayne street, Wednesday, at 3:30.

WHIPT OF JUSTICE

JENNIE BOSSCHIETER'S MURDERERS SENTENCED.

LAW'S DECREE PRONOUNCED

AN IMPRESSIVE SCENE IN PATERSON COURT.

PRISON FOR THIRTY YEARS

THE PRISONERS NERVOUS AND IN DISTRESS.

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 29.—Walter C. McAlister, William A. Death and Andrew J. Campbell, who were found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Jennie Bosschieter on October 18, 1900, by the administration of chloral, and subsequent rape, together with George J. Kerr, who pleaded non vult contends to a charge of rape, were brought into the court of oyer and terminer today for sentence by Judge Dixon.

McAlister, Campbell and Death were each sentenced to thirty years imprisonment at hard labor and Kerr to fifteen years imprisonment at hard labor. The sentences of all the men are the full terms of imprisonment which the law provides, but in the case of Kerr a fine of $1,000 might have been added.

The court room was crowded to its utmost capacity when Judge Dixon took his seat on the bench. The corridors of the court house were also filled with people, and on the sidewalk and in front crowds of the curious were assembled.

In the court room were the father, stepmother and sister of Jennie Bosschieter, who had been given seats where they could have a good view of all that transpired. A few minutes after court had been declared opened McAlister, Campbell and Death were brought in by deputy sheriffs and seated.

The proceedings began with a plea by Michael Dunn, one of the attorneys for the convicted men, for clemency for his clients. He urged that in the cases of Death and Campbell the question of their reformation was worthy of consideration by the court. Counsel also submitted a petition signed by many citizens asking for mercy for Campbell, who had been known for many years to the petitioners as industrious, temperate and of good character.

Ex-Judge Scott addressed the court in McAlister's behalf, urging previous good character and high family connections.

McAlister, Campbell and Death were then told to stand up. McAlister and Death looked extremely pale and Death had the appearance of suffering greatly under the strain.

Judge Dixon, addressing the three prisoners, said:

"You stand convicted of murder in the second degree. Had you been found guilty of murder in the first degree the punishment would have been death, but the leniency of the jury in the exercise of their lawful authority saved you from the gallows. We must administer laws as they are. It is true these sentences will destroy your lives, obliterating every prospect of an honorable existence among the people. The court cannot make any distinction, but must sentence you for this crime. I trust the fearful consequences from this crime will help young men and young women of this community and point out to them that they cannot hope to secure happiness outside of virtue and honor. The sentence of the court is that each of you be imprisoned in the state prison at Trenton at hard labor for a term of thirty years."

Saturday the concern ceased to exist as the Rogers Locomotive Works, and the directors became trustees. The works will now be sold to the highest bidder as the law provides.

IT CAME OUR WAY

FORT WAYNE GOT ABOUT EVERYTHING IN SIGHT.

ROYAL LEAGUE SESSION ENDS

W. S. WELLS AND J. T. LEACH ARE HONORED.

HEADQUARTERS REMAIN HERE

WILL ESTABLISH A LADIES' AUXILIARY.

The Indiana advisory committee of the Royal League has concluded its deliberations, and most of the visiting members have departed for their homes. Fort Wayne fared extremely well in the honors of the occasion, for two of the local members, W. S. Wells and J. T. Leach, were chosen to the highest positions within the gift of the state branch of the order, and Fort Wayne was also made the state headquarters for the coming year. The new state officers elected were as follows:

Archon—John T. Leach, of Fort Wayne.

Vice-Archon— George Mueller, of Lafayette.

Scribe—Charles Darling, of Indianapolis.

Treasurer—E. H. Waldo, of Anderson.

Orator—Dr. E. G. Prall, of Indianapolis.

Past Archon—William S. Wells, of Fort Wayne.

Guide—Ed. S. R. Seguine, of Indianapolis.

Prelate — George W. Cotton, of Richmond.

Warder—W. E. Miller, of Goshen.

Sentry—N. R. Howard, of Lafayette.

A WOMAN'S BRANCH.

At the session Monday afternoon a strong effort was made to admit women as members of the Royal League, allowing them to participate in all the fraternal and insurance lectures of the order. The proposition had many earnest supporters, but upon a balolt it was defeated. It was, however, decided to advocate the creation of a ladies' auxiliary to the league, and this will doubtless be done within a short time.

The officers' reports showed that during the past year the order has made notable gains in Indiana without especial effort, but it is the intention during 1901 to bring a number of organizers into Indiana who will be able to build up the order very materially before another annual session of the committee, to be held in this city early in 1902.

THE EVENING SESSION.

the evening session was a most enjoyable one, for it combined many social pleasures with the business at hand. The officers of Old Fort and Anthony Wayne councils were duly installed by Supreme Scribe C. E. Piper, assisted by W. E. Brandt, deputy supreme archon of Ohio, Otis Piper, of Illinois, and Charles Darling, of Indianapolis. Following this ceremony the officers of the advisory council were inducted into their positions. The event closed with an entertainment and banquet at Harmony hall, where addresses were made by Supreme Scribe C. E. Piper, of Illinois, Supreme Representative W. S. Wells, of Fort Wayne, and other prominent members of the order.

WILL DIVIDE INTO CLASSES.

The recently organized Wyandotte Athletic club will hold a meeting Wednesday evening in the assembly room in the court house. It is found necessary to divide the club into classes, in order to give all members active part in the exercises. A committee composed of Messrs. Reed, Wilkinson, Smith, Patton, Bowers and Oddou has been appointed to confer with out-of-town clubs regarding the meeting to be held in the spring.

What a Heap of Happiness It Would Bring to Fort Wayne Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause.

Backache pains come from sick kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills will cure it.

Fort Wayne people indorse this.

Mrs. E. L. Vauris, of 58 West Fifth street, says: "I had backache and a soreness across the small of my back which bothered me to stoop, and I had other symptoms of kidney complaint which were very bad and which left no doubt as to the nature of my trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills, sold at Meyer & Co.'s drug store, took right hold and proved beneficial from the very start. It was not many days before all the symptoms disappeared. I keep this remedy in the house all the time so as to be sure and have it handy if I should ever feel a return of the trouble."

Doan's Kidney Pills for sale by all druggists. Price 50 cents per box.

CAME TO FORT WAYNE IN 1840

MRS. F. HILDEBRAND IS CALLED FROM EARTH.

For Many Years a Resident of Marion Township—Other Deaths and Funerals.

Mrs. Fredricka Hildebrand, of Marion township, one of the early settlers in Allen county, passed away at the home of her son, August Hildebrand, on Monday morning at 1:20 o'clock, after an extended illness from the infirmities of old age.

Mrs. Hildebrand was born in Lene, Germany, in February, 1822, and came to Fort Wayne in 1840, residing in this city for about two years. She then removed with her husband to Marion township, where she had resided ever since. Her husband died several years ago and since that time she had made her home with her son August. Mrs. Hildebrand, had she survived but a few days longer, would have reached her seventy-ninth birthday. She was the mother of fourteen children, five of whom survive her—August, of Marion township; William, of Washington township; Fred, of this city; Mrs. Elizabeth Brookmeyer, of Marion township, and Mrs. Minnie Axt, of this city. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. H. Hildebrand and Mrs. Kruse, of this city.

Funeral services will be held on Friday at noon from the house and at 1 o'clock from the Lutheran church at Soest. Interment at Soest.

OERTEL.

Bernart Oertel, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Oertel, of Smith street, died last night of pneumonia, at the age of three years.

Funeral services will be held from the residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

ABOUT ANOTHER CHARTER

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL WILL NOT HAVE ONE.

Amendment to Constitution Defeated —A Lengthy Session Full of Incidents.

The Trades and Labor council held a long and busy session last evening and it was nearly midnight when adjournment was reached. A number of new delegates were obligated and the committee on fair reported progress and asked for further time before making a specific report, which request was granted. The fair will be held immediately after Lent. There was the usual number of reports from committees and officers, and among other things it was announced that there are now two union broom factories in Fort Wayne whose goods are on sale at most stores and union men were requested to see that their families used none but brooms having on them the union label. The principal discussion of the evening was brought out when the amendment to the constitution was brought up on its third reading for final passage. A year ago the council, being itself a central delegate body, decided to return its American Federation of Labor charter and work independently. There are some unions which have no standing with the American Federation of Labor, and as the council was organized as a local institution to shelter all protective bodies, irrespective of their parent bodies, it was thought best to dispense with the charter, while at the same time working in perfect harmony with American Federation of Labor interests. The amendment was to again work under a charter. The discussion was long and passionate at times and when finally a vote was taken the amendment was defeated, the result being 19 against and 31 for the charter, the advocates lacking seven of having the constitutional two-thirds necessary to carry an amendment. H. A. Rogers, on a question of personal privilege, asked permission to refute the statement published that he had been at Indianapolis representing himself as the mouthpiece of organized labor in an effort to defeat the city charter bill. He also called attention to the fact that Chairman Keegan had flourished a letter at Indianapolis purporting to have been written by the president of the council, denouncing Rogers. The letter in question was written by Mr. Hoeltje, who is not president of the council and who made no such statement and between whom and Rogers the most cordial relations exist. Mr. Rogers' explanation was endorsed.

A week ago the Barbers' union published a set of resolutions stating that Federal Labor union No. 6620 had no charter and that President Baker, who was elected president of the council as a delegate from that body, was illegally holding office and virtually demanding his resignation. Delegate Mitchell, of the Federal Labor union, called attention to the resolutions, called them an outrage, said they were inspired by malice and petty jealousy, declared the statements in the resolution a tissue of falsehoods, and in support of his statement produced the union's charter, together with some official correspondence with the officers of the American Federation of Labor. He then made a motion that Charles Steiss, of the Barbers' union, who drew the resolutions, be mandated by the council to make an apology to the president of the council, the delegates of the union affected and the local organizers of the American Federation of Labor, and that apology and retraction of the resolutions be given the same publicity as the original resolutions. The motion was carried without a dissenting voice. Mr. Steiss, being present, then arose and said that he had been misinformed, that he meant no evil and no disrespect to the president and the union named, and expressed regret at the occurrence. The statement was satisfactory and the incident was closed, except that the Barbers' union was exonerated from evil intent, but was requested to officially correct the mistake that was officially promulgated. After the appointment of a committee to secure a new hall, to report at the next meeting, the council adjourned.

HOW TO TELL THE GENUINE.

The signature of E. W. Grove appears on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine.

STURDY BLACKSMITHS

Learn Facts About Coffee.

Two blacksmiths of Northampton, Mass., Messrs. Thayer and McGrath, both discovered that coffee was the cause of heartburn and sour stomach continually troubling them in spite of active exercise.

They left off the coffee and began taking Postum Food Coffee. The trouble disappeared at once, and both men are now enthusiastic over Postum.

If powerful men like blacksmiths are affeted by the drugs contained in ordinary coffee, it would seem folly for brain workers to try to withstand the effects of it.

Hiram Day, a man seventy-five years old, also of Northampton, had used coffee for a great many years, and developed serious bilious troubles. A few months ago he left off coffee and began using Postum Food Coffee. He has recovered his health and considers Postum in every way superior to ordinary coffee.

Edson P. Clark, also of Northampton, Mass., a pencil manufacturer, was troubled with dyspepsia and kidney disorders. He was induced to leave off coffee and use Postum Food Coffee in its place. He says he has never been as well in twenty-five years as he is at present, and gives the entire credit to Postum.

Nearly every coffee user is ill in some part of the body. Coffee does not directly affect the same organs in every man or woman, but the effect is first on the stomach, and from that to the nervous system. When the nerves are out of order it may show in the different organs like the kidneys, liver, heart, lungs, bowels or some other part of the body, or the trouble may show itself in a general nervous and unbalanced condition. When coffee is dispensed with, and nature begins to set up a cure it is very greatly helped in this work by the use of Postum Food Coffee, for it contains certain elements that the life force uses to build up the cells and the gray matter in the nerve centers. Any person can prove this [illegible] by trial.

The Anglo-German entente seems to have sprouted some new roots in the tear-moistened soil of Osborne. If it makes for peace it will not disturb the dead queen.

Almost as soon as there is promise of a larger army the need for it disappears, according to the Manila dispatches, which say the insurrectos are surrendering in droves and giving voluntary bond to keep the peace.

If the bill, already through the senate, adopting electricity as a means of inflicting capital punishment in this state becomes a law, there may doubtless be expected a sudden revival of popularity of extreme penalty in murder cases. The public as well as small boys is usually impatient to try its new machines.

C. F. W. Neely, the alleged embezzler of postal funds in Cuba, makes out something of a case in defense, though no one is prepared to believe that he is not guilty of dishonesty. There has been much that is mysterious about the developments in the Cuban postal frauds and there is more than breeze in Neely's charge that he is to be the scapegoat. It is unfortunate that he is to be tried according to the Spanish system of criminal jurisprudence. The American article would be better.

A Solomon has exhaled wisdom and likewise a Daniel has come to judgment in a Wisconsin court in the person of Judge Burnell, who rules that excessive cigarette smoking is good ground for divorce. The judgment was rendered in the case of a woman who alleged that life with her husband was no longer bearable because he was a cigarette fiend. Not to speak of the various human degeneracies begotten by excessive cigarette smoking, the fact that any man keeps his person intolerably vile and his home stifling with cigarette smoke is good cause for separate maintenance, if not for divorce.

Hon. Charles A. Towne, late United States senator from Minnesota, wore his toga scarcely long enough to get the store wrinkles out of it, but he created an opportunity to warm the senate up a bit before he retired. His speech on the Philippine question yesterday was not only one of the ablest arguments yet presented to the senate on that issue, but was one of the most eloquent and graceful fights of oratory heard in the upper body of congress for a long time. Senator Towne is admittedly one of the nation's greatest orators. To sit in the senate, even for the brief term of a month, without having contributed something to the speech-making traditions of that august body, was somewhat more than could be expected of a great master of eloquence. So Mr. Towne made his speech and it attracted as well as captivated a splendid audience. But it was the song of the swan. Almost immediately upon the conclusion of Senator Towne's speech his successor, Mr. Clapp, appeared at the bar of the senate and was sworn in and Senator Towne became a private citizen. However, he is young as well as great, and his career has not gone up a blind alley.

Something new in the line of confections for children has come to light in Chicago and it is somewhat more devilish, if possible, than the cigarette. It is called "gumbacco," and is the ordinary chewing gum of commerce mixed with pulverized tobacco. Some children in one of the public schools of Chicago became violently ill while at their books and investigation disclosed that they had purchased "gumbacco" at a confectioners, making use of it as ordinary chewing gum. Of course it had the usual effect of tobacco upon all unaccustomed stomachs. The man who would sell such a compound ought to be dealt with less severely only than the man who makes it.

REAL WORK TO BEGIN.

Apropos the auditorium project, many excellent persons perhaps have thought there has been much cry and little wool, a great deal of talk and little building. Now it must be kept in view that noise is a good thing when employed to rouse sleepy persons. There has been some fear that Fort Wayne might not be fully awake to the importance of this auditorium enterprise. The purpose of any noise that has been made was to call attention to the fact that an effort is under way to do something big and beneficent for the city. There is to be more noise. The auditorium project will not succeed unless there is enlisted the enthusiastic interest of all the people of the city. Genuine interest in anything must spring from understanding of the thing itself. It is the immediate purpose to make clear beyond all dispute that Fort Wayne needs an auditorium; that an auditorium will be about the best thing that can happen to Fort Wayne; that it will confer many benefits upon the city as a community and upon every person in the city; that it will promote art, education, morals, commerce, industry, civic pride and healthful amusements. It is purposed to convince every person with a dollar to spare that such person has a direct material personal interest in the construction of the auditorium; that it is a project commanding the support of every one who lives in Fort Wayne, is proud of the city, hopeful of its future and patriotic enough to contribute to its prestige and good name. After a short campaign of noise has brought about a thorough public awakening, real work will begin. The soliciting committee will call on you to get that generous subscription you shall have been stimulated to resolve upon. The Commercial club's auditorium committee has completed the machine wherewith the auditorium funds are to be raised. Don't buck against the machine. Turn to with willing hand and help to heave this great and splendid enterprise out of the vapors of doubt into the clear light. Your help is essential, vital, indispensable, for any one and everyone has as good excuse to hold back as yourself, and there is no excuse for any one. Help on the noise and then be ready to help on with the work that is to follow. Forty-five thousand people can unitedly settle the auditorium question right in a short time. A few fellows backing water can hamper the enterprise seriously, if not fatally. Get yourself in the game and your subscription, the best you can afford, in the basket.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

THE CASE HELD UP

BECOMES LUNACY INQUIRY

TRIAL OF MARION MURDERER AT WABASH.

CITIZENS ARE DISFRANCHISED

GENERAL NEWS OF THE STATE OF INDIANA.

Wabash, Ind., Jan. 29.—The trial of John Rinkard, brought from the Grant circuit court to this county on a change of venue, was begun at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, when thirty witnesses were sworn. Rinkard is charged with the murder of his wife, and the state asks a verdict of murder in the first degree. John A. Kersey, the counsel for the prisoner, waiving the question of the mental condition at the time of the shooting, declared that the law forbade the trial of an insane man and demanded that a lunacy commission examine Rinhard before beginning the case. To this Prosecutor Amsden made a vigorous objection, asserting that the time for an inquiry into the mental state of the accused should have been before the case was brought to Wabash. Judge Shively has decided that Rinhard should be examined before his trial. The case was then adjourned until Friday, at which time the result of the investigation will be made known.

CITIZENS DISFRANCHISED.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Jan. 29.—The cases of the forty-three men who are charged with selling their votes at the last election were called in court and the case against Rufus Wells was the first to be put on trial. It took most of the day to get a jury. The main witness against Wells was Charles Benjamin, who testified that he agreed to give Wells $15 for his vote and the vote of his son, Charles, and that Wells was paid $1 by Taylor Thompson and took a receipt therefor, which was introduced as evidence. Wells was found guilty and the sentence passed involves his disfranchisement for nineteen years. Roy Nichols and Charles Hays pleaded guilty to the charges against them, and were disfranchised for twelve years each.

ANOTHER DAILY AT MARION.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 29.—The Marion Tribune began publication in the city yesterday afternoon. It is seven-colum, eight-page paper, and metropolitan in style. It starts out with a circulation of 4,000 copies daily. The Associated Press report is used, and the personal of the local staff is exceptionally strong for a paper in a city the size of Marion. The plant is equipped with the latest machinery, and is operated by electricity. The paper is strictly republican in politics. E. L. Goldthwait, one of the best known newspaper men in the state, is manager, and the company is composed of several of Marion's wealthiest and most influential citizens. In the salutatory but one issue is outspoken upon, and that is with reference to subsidies in any form, against which the new paper takes a decided stand. The proposition to appropriate $100,000 to the Cincinnati, Richmond and Muncie Railway company is denounced.

MARION'S MAYOR AROUSED.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 29.—Two men at 10 o'clock Sunday night went to Gus Allman's house. The children went to the door, but would not let them in. After finding no grown persons were at home, the men climbed up the veranda to an upper room and got $15. Later burglars entered the barber shop of George Horne, secured $12 and cooked supper in a back room while Horne slept. Yesterday the mayor, for the first time in the history of Marion, ordered every saloon closed at lawful hours and gambling houses closed, beginning last night. Each patrolman, on whose beat a gambling house is found open or a saloon open after 11 o'clock will be discharged. The police claim that gamblers are committing the burglaries.

BEGINS WORK WITH SERMON.

Washington, Ind., Jan. 29.—Rev. J. I. Gorby, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in this city, has been placed on the pay roll at L. H. Creager's stave and heading factory in this city, and every morning for one month he will deliver a fifteen-minute sermon to the fity men employed in the factory. He delivered his first sermon yesterday morning, his subject being, "Things to Think About." It was something new to the men and they stood about in their shirt sleeves and listened attentively. Mr. Creager says the churches of to-day are too aristocratic for the average working man to attend, and that his object in beginning the day's work with a short sermon is to give the minister an opportunity to sow seed in neglected soil. The workmen are given full pay for the time spent in attending religious services.

DISAPPEARED WITH $2,500.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 29.—Enos Phillips thinks that the skeleton found by men who were digging a sewer in the heart of the city is that of Mase Howell, a step-brother to Phillips, who disappeared eighteen years ago. Howell was seen by several persons as he entered his home one night, and from that time his whereabouts have been a mystery. He had $2,500 in his pockets when he disappeared, and neither he nor the money was ever heard from.

REAPED FORTUNE IN ALASKA.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 29.—David Smith went west twenty years ago to prospect for gold. He spent seventeen years in California, and then joined the rush to the Klondike. He is here visiting his sister, Mrs. W. A. McFarren, and claims he has gathered a snug fortune from the gold regions of Alaska.

MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETING

South Bend, Ind., Jan. 29.—The Kankakee Valley District Medical society is meeting at the Oliver, this city, today, with addresses by Dr. A. D. Blount, of Wheeler; Dr. J. C. Carson, of Valparaiso; Dr. George W. Thompson, of Winamac; Dr. George F. Hoffman, of Rochester, and others.

THE MANTLE OF OTHERS.

[Washington Times.]

Though Representative J. M. Robinson, of Indiana, has done much to make him famous, he gets credit for doing a great many things that he has not done. He is probably the worst victim of mistaken identity on the floor of the house. He gets the mail of others; others get his mail. He makes speeches, and others get the credit for the effort, and vice versa. He and Representative Charles A. Swanson are the two Dromies, and the number of times that they are taken for each other are almost countless. They are not quite the same height, but are of the same proportions, are both dark in complexion and both have black hair, slightly touched with grey.

"Mr. Swanson has suffered more from our personal resemblance than I, for he is continually losing congratulations on his oratorical efforts," said Mr. Robinson this morning. "Not long ago when he spoke on the postoffice bill, I found myself besieged in the lobby. Part of the crowd were old Indiana friends who grasped my hand with hearty words of approbation. 'Fine speech, Robinson,' they exclaimed. The others were Virginians who courteously wanted to 'congratulate me on my masterly effort.' That is only one of a dozen similar incidents. I have to answer all sorts of questions on my candidacy for the governorship, too—a bit of honor which is a legacy from Mr. Swanson, who is a strong candidate for the executive chair in his state. A name-plate hung conspicuously on the breast of each of us, declaring 'This is Swanson,' and 'This is Robinson' seems to be the only way out of the predicament."

A DEEP MYSTERY.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Peterson, Iowa, "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c. at Dreier & Bros.' drug store.

MANY MANGLED IN A WRECK

FIVE MEN KILLED IN B. & O. RAILROAD DISASTER.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Jan. 29.—Five persons dead and one severely wounded, two engines and ten loaded cars wrecked is the result of a mistake of a train crew made between Petroleum and Volcano Junction, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. An engineer mistook the first section of a passing train for the second. Thinking both had passed, he pulled his train on to the main track and sped onward.

The dead:

J. B. Watkins, engineer train No. 98.

W. W. Cunningham, fireman on train No. 98.

M. Courtney, of Parkersburg, brakeman on No. 98.

J. T. Bailey, of Kanawha, fireman on No. 87.

J. G. Bailey, of Kanawha, fireman on No. 87.

The injured.

Ike Davidson, of Grafton, engineer on No. 87; burned, cut and bruised; will recover.

All the five men piled under the wreck were dead and only one of their bodies has been rescued. He was J. G. Bailey, whose body was crushed so as to be unrecognizable and could only be identified by his watch.

ENGINEER ASLEEP.

The accident occurred in a cut on a curve on a heavy down grade and at the end of a bridge. The third section of No. 8 was on the siding at Petroleum, with orders to wait there until the second section of No. 98 passed east. Engineer Davidson, who escaped with slight injuries, was the engineer on No. 87 and went to sleep on the siding.

When the first section went by he thought it was the second section, and started out on the main track. His fireman and forward brakeman, both of whom were killed, must also have been asleep, for they allowed him to take the train out. The conductor of the first 98, after he passed, saw Davidson pulling out, and tried to wave him to stp, but failed. The conductor of the fourth 87, seeing the third section pull out, ran forward after it as fast as possible, his engineer whistling down brakes, and the conductor of the wrecked train ran over the tops of the cars until he reached the car next to the last one wrecked, in his attempt to stop the engineer, but none of them attracted his attention in time. Conductor Long managed to jump in time to save himself.

Omega Oil

What It Looks Like

Here is a picture that shows how Omega Oil looks in the drug store. The wrapper on the outside of the bottle is always printed in green ink. The trade mark is a leaf, as the picture shows, with these words upon it: "Omega Oil. It's Green." Down near the bottom is the written signature of Higinio Espinosa, which is a guarantee that the contents of the bottle are genuine. Never under any circumstances buy a liniment unless this trade mark and name are on the wrapper. Never patronize a druggist who tries to sell you something else when you ask for Omega Oil. Beware of any other oil gotten up to deceive you. Always trade at stores where they give you what you ask for. Omega Oil stops all pains in the back, shoulders, arms, elbows, wrists, legs, knees, ankles and feet. It is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for. Rub it in good and hard, and the pains will go away quickly.

All druggists sell Omega Oil, or can get it for you of any jobber if they want to. If your druggist refuses to sell you this liniment that stops pain, the Omega Chemical Co., 257 Broadway, New York, will mail you a bottle, prepaid, for 50c. in cash, money order or stamps. 760

The Bridal Feast

Is not infrequently followed by a long, lenten period of enforced fasting and fleshly mortification. The cheek grows hollow, the eyes are dull and deep ringed, and the step is slow and languid. There is an "all" dragged-out feeling, which makes life an utter burden. The great functional changes which follow marriage are not usually anticipated, or the wifely suffering might be avoided.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best friend of weak and sickly women. It cures the womanly diseases that rob the eye of brightness and the step of lightness. It tones up the system and establishes the womanly organism on a basis of sound health.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor other narcotics. Accept no substitute. There is no other medicine "just as good" for weak and sickly women.

"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness for about two years," writes Mrs. Emma Richardson, of Goss, Wayne Co., Ky. "Could not do my work part of the time. I took four bottles of Dr Pierce's Favorite Prescription and felt as well as I ever did."

SCORES GOVERNOR

MRS. NATION CARRIES WAR INTO HIGH PLACE.

INVADES EXECUTIVE OFFICE

HAS A WORDY TILT WITH THE KANSAS GOVERNOR.

BOTH DISPLAY ILL TEMPER

AN EXCITING INCIDENT IN TOPEKA.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 29.—Mrs. Nation visited the county and state officers yesterday and urged them to undertake a more vigorous enforcement of the prohibitory liquor law, not only in Topeka, but through the state. She told the governor that she had come to Topeka to stay until every "joint" is closed.

"I ask you to help me," she said. "As a matter of self-defense I took up this fight. It is not an impulse, but a last resort. I've prayed and cried and laid down on the floor and wept. Something must be done. Ther is murder everywhere, so I took the only means I saw that would give hope."

Governor Stanley defended himself against the woman's criticisms of his official conduct and declared that he had no power under the law to close drinking places; that this duty was left to the local officials. Mrs. Nation replied that he could remove the officials who failed to perform their duty and that he was a coward and a perjurer for not doing it under his oath.

DOESN'T APPROVE METHODS.

The governor said he could not approve Mrs. Nation's methods and she asked him to name a better one. Pointing to a bruise on her face which she received in a saloon raid, Mrs. Nation said:

"You gave me this black eye. You did it undoubtedly because you have failed to perform your duty. I'm glad I've got it to show you. You remember how Paul and Silas wore their stripes. I'm glad I've got this mark to show you. I want to raise your pity and conscience.

"You can close every 'joint' in Kansas if you will, Governor Stanley. You can do it if you want to, but you won't. But you are a law-breaker yourself if you don't. You took your oath of office to keep the constitution. You refuse my request; you are not only a law-breaker, but a perjurer."

As Mrs. Nation proceeded she became more vehement and her voice quivered. She rose from her chair and looked full in the face of Governor Stanley, and pointing her finger at him, called him "law-breaker" and "perjurer" without the least show of fear. She repeated these words of accusation again and again. He tried to make reply, but she gave him no chance, the words of invective pouring from her with a rush that would not be stemmed.

THE GOVERNOR ENRAGED.

"You cannot come here and talk this way to me. You cannot talk to me this way, I say. You are a woman, but I won't stand it. You will have to leave."

"I am a mother. I am a grandmother, and I represent the mothers of the state."

"You don't. You don't represent them," almost shouted the governor.

The words flew back and forth with such fierceness that it was impossible to distinguish them. The room was in an uproar. Then Mrs. Nation talked more calmly, pleading with the governor to aid her.

"You come with me and help smash saloons," she urged. And then she added:

"If you won't help us; if you won't help me, I'll go around and I'll smash, smash, smash, governor. The devil seems to have a cinch on the men, but he hasn't a cinch on the hatchets and rocks."

Finally Governor Stanley volunteered:

"You get the prosecuting attorneys of the different counties to put the joint keepers in jail and I'll use my power as governor to keep them in. I'll see that they are not pardoned out."

ACCEPTS SUGGESTION.

This promise instantly transformed Mrs. Nation. She fairly beamed with joy, and thanking the governor, started for the office of Attorney General Goddard. The attorney general was engaged, but she forced her way into his private office and introduced her subject with these words:

"We want you to close these joints, thes murder shops. I want a straight message from you to the county attorney telling him to do his duty. It is a shame that the officers of this state will drive the women to do this knd of work, but unless you do your duty the women will get out and do theirs. If Governor Stanley will trade places with me I'll show him that the saloons can be closed, or if he will come along with me and use a hatchet I'll show him what a woman can do, and I am only a poor old grandmother."

Mrs. Nation also visited the county attorney and the sheriff and repeated her plea for the enforcement of the law. At all of these places she was followed by crowds of curious people, but there were no violent demonstrations.

ISN'T WORKING FOR MONEY.

Mrs. Nation says she is not in this business for money; that she has received only $10 since she started on her trip. Last night a collection was taken for her, but she turned it over to the pastor of the church, with the remark:

"I am not in the work for the money, but for the good I may do. I want to save our boys from death, and the worst kind of death, and I want to save the mothers and wives from sorrow and suffering. You men do not understand me, but these mothers do."

MAY MOVE IT TO FORT WAYNE

LOCAL CAPITAL IN A HUNTINGTON ENTERPRISE.

Stock Being Subscribed to Bring Engine and Bicycle Factory to This City.

Stock is now being solicited for a new company which will bring the plant of the Huntington Manufacturing company to this city. The factory builds Pioneer bicycles and Pioneer gasoline engines, and is owned by Van B. Perrine, of this city.

Within a very short time the business of the company has entirely outgrown the capacity of the Huntington plant, and Mr. Perrine desires to remove it to Fort Wayne and greatly enlarge the works. For this purpose he desires the organization of a stock company capitalized at from $50,000 to $100,000, and the work of soliciting subscriptions of stock has been going forward for some time. It is said that about $30,000 of the amount is already subscribed, and prospects are very bright for an early consummation of the plan.

About sixty-five hands are employed at the Huntington factory. The Pioneer bicycle is a high-grade machine and is already well known. The gasoline engine also built by the company is made in but one size, one and one-half horse power, and is designed to fill every requirement where light power is used. The cylinder is cooled by air instead of water, and it has many points of excellence over similar machines. Wabash and Anderson are each after the factory, but Mr. Perrine prefers to locate it in Fort Wayne if sufficient capital stock is subscribed. A sample of the engine is now on exhibition in the windows of the Randall Cycle company.

E. HARTMAN LOSES THREE FINGERS AND A THUMB.

Accident at Hoffman's Mill—Morris Miller Gets His Hand Between Cog Wheels.

Eugene Hartman, an employe of Hartman Bros.' mills, was the victim of a distressing accident at 10 o'clock this morning. Hartman was operating a buzz saw when in some manner his right hand came in contact with the saw. The injured man was removed to St. Joseph's hospital where the Drs. McBeth and Dr. G. B. Stemen found it necessary to amputate three fingers and a part of the thumb from the right hand. Hartman is about 18 years of age and resides on Runnion avenue.

Elegance is Not Extravagance!

Quite the contrary. It pays to buy elegant clothing. But that does not justify a man to pay more for a fine garment at one place than he can get it at another. To do so would be extravagance. But to buy the best quality for the least possible money is genuine economy. Hundreds of people practiced economy at our store yesterday. Hundreds more should take advantage of our sale. Fancy vests at half price, smoking jackets half price, all heavy clothing discounted 20 per cent. with the exception of black and blue worsteds. TO CURE THE GRIP.

Advice of a Famous Physician.

First and foremost, REST.

Take care of yourself. Your already weakened nerves want rest and must have it. If the attack is severe go to bed and remain there. More fatalities result from neglect of this precaution than from any other cause.

Eat sparingly. Your digestive organs are in no condition to take care of large quantities of food.

Drink plenty of pure, cold water. It allays the fever, stimulates the kidneys to action and opens up the pores of the skin. Keep the bowels open with Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills.

Take three doses of Dr. Miles' Nervine per day, and if you cannot sleep, take an extra dose at bed time. To further control the fever and to overcome the peculiar aches and pains of grip, use Dr. Miles' Pain Pills. They act quickly and effectually and no bad effects result from their use. These remedies have been thoroughly tested more than a million times and their efficiency is thoroughly established. They never fail to give relief.

THE REAL THING

AUDITORIUM PROJECT HAS REACHED NEW STAGE.

ACTUAL WORK SOON TO BEGIN

COMMITTEE HAS ORGANIZED FOR BUSINESS.

THE CITY TO BE CANVASSED

SOLICITING COMMITTEE HAS WORK ARRANGED.

The auditorium project has entered a new stage. It has passed beyond the pale of mere abstract discussion, and has become a matter of actual, tangible work. Within the next two weeks there is to be prosecuted a comprehensive campaign of publicity, and following this, on Monday, February 11, a small army of enthusiastic solicitors will begin a systematic canvass of the city for subscriptions.

It is designed that the advance work of publicity shall be of so thorough and comprehensive character as to permeate every section of the city; to acquaint every citizen of Fort Wayne with the precise nature of the auditorium enterprise, of what the structure is to be, how it is to be secured, and of the benefits which will accrue to the city from the existence of an exposition building large enough for the accommodation of great assemblages of every character. There has been a thorough discussion of the matter in the light of numerous plans and suggestions advanced, and the Commercial club's committee will, with the assistance of the splendid public spirit so characteristic of Fort Wayne, take up the actual work of solicitation with a vigor that promises a magnificently successful outcome.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The committee held a meeting Monday evening, and there was genuine and wholesale enthusiasm in the work. On account of illness, George P. Evans resigned from the committee, and S. F. Bowser was appointed to fill the vacancy. The auditorium organization was perfected by the election of officers and the appointment of committees as follows:

Chairman—George W. Beers.
Vice Chairman—Dr. W. O. Gross.
Secretary—John B. Monning.
Treasurer—Ed M. Wilson.
Executive Committee—Charles McCulloch, James M. Barrett, D. C. Fisher, P. A. Randall, Dr. W. O. Gross.
Entertainment Committee—A. J. Moynihan, Robert Millard, S. M. Foster, R. H. Carnahan, S. B. Fleming.

Every step of the work in connection with the project will be under the general supervision of the executive committee. The entertainment committee is to arrange for public entertainments, concerts, etc., for the purpose of raising funds to assist in building the structure, and the advertising committee is to be in charge of the campaign of publicity through which it is hoped to enlist the interest and assistance of every citizen of the city.

PLAN TO BE THOROUGH.

The canvass for subscriptions will be upon a plan more thorough and systematic than has ever been attempted heretofore. D. C. Fisher presented a plat of the city divided into 150 small districts, each of which can be thoroughly canvassed by a committee named for the purpose, and as the head of the work of canvassing a soliciting committee was named. This committee is made up of one member for each of the ten wards in the city, and one for the Spy Run avenue district. The soliciting committee is:

First Ward—C. E. Moellering.
Second Ward—Harry A. Wiebke.
Third Ward—D. C. Fisher.
Fourth Ward—P. D. Smyser.
Fifth Ward—Theodore F. Thieme.
Sixth Ward—F. V. Culbertson.
Seventh Ward—W. F. Graeter.
Eighth Ward—G. R. Hench.
Ninth Ward—P. A. Randall.
Tenth Ward—S. F. Bowser.
Spy Run District—John B. Reuss.

Each member of this committee is empowered to appoint solicitors sufficient to thoroughly canvass every district, and all will meet upon call within a few days and the sub-committees will be assigned to the several districts, so that the work may be thoroughly and systematically done. This means that when the canvass is officially begun on February 11 there will be a small army of more than 150 active, energetic solicitors in the field. It means, also, that every business man, every property owner, every society, every wage-earner so far as possible, will be urged and expected to give such aid as is possible to the enterprise.

The project is to be a peoples' movement—a gigantic enterprise in which every citizen of the city shall be vitally interested, and which shall benefit every resident of Fort Wayne. The project will not be allowed to lag. The auditorium will cost something like $100,000, but no funds will be expended until there is an absolute assurance of success in raising the full amount necessary. Every subscriber is thus protected in his subscription, for there is a provision that should the committee fail in its efforts, subscriptions are to be returned to those who made them. The committee is certain, however, that the people of Fort Wayne will not permit that admirable project to come short of a magnificent success.

A CAUSE OF HEADACHE.

One Very Common Cause Generally Overlooked.

Headache is a symptom, an indication of derangement or disease in some organ, and the cause of the headache is difficult to locate because so many diseases have headache as a prominent symptom; derangement of the stomach and liver, heart trouble kidney disease, lung trouble, eye strain or ill fitting glasses all produce headaches and if we could always locate the organ which is at fault the cure of obstinate headaches would be a much simpler matter.

However, for that form of headache called frontal headache, pain back of the eyes and in forehead, the cause is now known to be catarrh of the head and throat; when the headache is located in back of head and neck it is often caused from catarrh of the stomach or liver.

At any rate catarrh is the most common cause of such headaches and the cure of the catarrh causes a prompt disappearance of the headaches.

There is at present no treatment for catarrh so convenient and effective as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new internal remedy in tablet form, composed of antiseptics like Eucalyptol, Guaiacol and Blood Root which act upon the blood and cause the elimination of the catarrhal poison from the system through the natural channels.

Miss Cora Ainsley, a prominent school teacher in one of our normal schools, speaks of her experience with catarrhal headaches and eulogizes Stuart's Catarrh Tablets as a cure for them. She says: "I suffered daily from severe frontal headache and pain in the back of the eyes, at times so intensely as to incapacitate me in my daily duties. I had suffered from catarrh, more or less for years, but never thought it was the cause of my headaches, but finally became convinced that such was the case because the headaches were always worse whenever I had a cold or fresh attack of catarrh.

"Stuart's Catarrh Tablets were highly recommended to me as a safe and pleasant catarrh cure and after using a few fifty cent boxes which I procured from my druggist I was surprised and delighted to find that both the catarrh and headaches had gone for good."

Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are sold by druggists at fifty cents per package, under the guarantee of the proprietors that they contain absolutely no cocaine (found in so many catarrh cures) no opium (so common in cheap cough cures) nor any harmful drug. They contain simply the wholesome antiseptics necessary to destroy and drive from the system the germs of catarrhal disease.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 29.—The market was unsettled by the violent opening break in St. Paul and by the nervous tone of steel and wire. St. Paul on the sale of 4,000 shares was quoted at 152½ and 152 compared with 154⅝ last night and it quickly fell to 150½ on subsequent transactions. Northern Pacific and the Grangers lost from 1 to 1½ in sympathy. The dealings in steel and wire were large and the fluctuations feverish, an opening loss of ½ was recovered and the stock then again declined a point.

In the general list changes were fractional and a good deal divided, a number of important stocks showing gains.

National Steel and Pacific Mail were up a point each.

When prices of 39 and 150 respectively were made for Steel and Wire and St. Paul, buying to cover rallied them to 40⅞ and 152¾. The general market had sold off, notably in spots, particularly Consolidated Gas and Federal Steel, which yielded two points each. Substantial recoveries were subsequently made by Manhattan, Brooklyn Transit, Federal Steel, and People's Gas of 1@1½, and some other stocks which had been depressed sharply made full recoveries.

Price movements were governed by the fluctuations in St. Paul. That stock after extending its rally to 153 reacted to 151 and dragged the other grangers down to the lowest again. The general market was forced to yield, especially for the tractions, steel stocks, Northern Pacific and Kansas and Texas preferred. When the offerings of St. Paul decreased, the stock worked up fractionally, as did the general market. Some large blocks of Southern Pacific were taken around 46 and Mobile and Ohio rose 3⅜ points. Bonds were dull and irregular.

The election sheriffs for the railroad election to be held a week from today have been selected by the several county chairmen.

SMILE HAUNTS HIM STILL

DICK SCHRECK BEAMS FAIR ON THE MAYOR.

With a smile that spread over his face like a plate full of pancake batter and trickled down the back of his neck, Dick Schreck said "Good morning" to the mayor at police court this morning. That smile did the business and captivated the mayor from the jump brought him up standing like a two year old at the draw gate. Dick admitted that he had been drinking some but related how scandalously good he had been ever since he was up before and he promised to inaugurate a period of reform that would break all previous records if he was allowed to go and then he sprung that smile once more. It was irresistable and Dick walked away rejoicing, the smile leaving a trail behind him like the tail of a comet.

Alexander Jackson was unfortunate in not being the possessor of a smile incubator. Alexander was also handicapped by a note from his wife to the mayor asking that he be locked up until he got sober. Alex. was on the war path yesterday afternoon and procured a gun with which he terrorized the denizens in the vicinity of the Rudisill bridge on Spy Run avenue. He emitted a few whoops and declared that he was a very bad man and was likely to eat up a few women and children unless somebody fed him candy. He was brought down to see the captain and the mayor told him to rest up his appetite about sixteen days in the county jail.

Henry Rehling reported that a lap robe had been stolen from his buggy standing on the corner of Maumee avenue and Harmer street.

Officer Parr yesterday afternoon found a marble slab on Calhoun street. It evidently belonged to a dressing case or wash stand and had probably dropped from some moving van or furniture wagon.

A driver for the City Trucking company yesterday broke the fire alarm box on the corner of Calhoun and Jefferson streets. He was driving a truck and in attempting to turn out for a car his vehicle swung in such a manner as to strike the box. The trucking company will be required to replace the box and as they cost $75 each the accident will prove an expensive one if the box is entirely ruined.

Warren Keplinger, representing the Canton-Cleveland Brick company, was a visitor at the city hall this morning.

IMPROVING PLANT

PAUL PULLEY COMPANY ADDS MACHINERY.

MR. D. J. TIMLIN HONORED

HIS FOREMEN PRESENT HIM WITH DIAMOND PIN.

WABASH SHOPMAN INJURED

JOHN SMITHERS HIT WITH A SLEDGE HAMMER.

The Paul Manufacturing company is making some important additions to the equipment of its factory at Sixth and Calhoun streets. New machinery is being added and that already there is being rearranged. A "blower system" for carrying shavings and dust to the boiler room is being installed at a cost of $1,000. The company will increase its force of workmen also when the improvements now in progress are completed. Business is good with the firm and is constantly increasing.

GRIP TAKES FIRMER HOLD.

The grip, which had loosened its grasp upon the shopmen for a couple days, was apparently only doing so to throw the men off their guard. Last night it renewed its hold with a firmer grasp and as a result the sick lists are more lengthy this morning than they were yesterday and Saturday. At the Pittsburg shops new names on the sick list are N. C. Petgen, F. C. Treuchet, C. Wellman, J. Moore, P. Dierstein, A. J. Bobay, G. Schmidt, W. F. Goers, J. Ensch and C. J. Mathien. At the Wabash shops some of the departments were in better shape than they have been for several days, while one, the boiler shop, was more seriously crippled. This morning there were thirteen names on the absentee list. The Bass shops, Electric works, Organ factory, Olds Wagon works and Kerr Murray works are also suffering from lack of workmen on account of the grip, but are not so seriously affected as the railway shops.

STRUCK WITH A HAMMER.

John Smithers, an employe in the Wabash boiler shop, received a bad cut back of his right ear yesterday. He was accidently struck with a hammer in the hands of David Roche, a fellow workman The blow put Mr. Smithers into a dazed condition for awhile, but he soon revived. He is now at his home, 121 St. Martin street.

MR. TIMLIN HONORED.

Concerning a gentleman well known in railway circles in Fort Wayne, the American Tribune, of Newark, Ohio, says:

"General Foreman D. J. Timlin, of the Baltimore and Ohio mechanical department, was given a very pleasant surprise by about a hundred of his railroad friends at his home, on East Main street. That Mr. Timlin's services as a foreman were greatly appreciated was clearly shown by his being presented with a beautiful diamond stud. Mr. Timlin is very popular and well liked among the men. The evening was spent in music and a general good time. Mr. Timlin leaves tomorrow for Waco, Texas, where he has accepted a position as master mechanic on one of the railroads in Texas. He came here last May and had gained many friends, who are sorry to lose him, but wish him all the success possible in his new undertaking."

Mr. Timlin is now in Waco, where he assumes the office of master mechanic of the Texas Central road, which is destined to become one of the most important railways in that state. It extends from Sabine Pass, on the gulf coast, to Las Vegas, N. M., but is not completed the entire distance. The night preceding Mr. Timlin's departure from Newark, sixteen of the shop foremen gave him a banquet.

"Failing to find relief from the grip with old methods, I took Dr. Miles' Pain Pills, Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills and was permanently cured."—Gust. Egan, Jackson, Mich.

"After suffering for two months from a severe attack of grip, I found quick relief and a lasting cure by using Dr. Miles' Nervine, Pain Pills and Heart Cure."—Harry Abbott, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Grip made me very weak and nervous, with tightness of chest and headache. Dr. Miles' Pain Pills and Nervine gave me quick relief."—Mrs. Clarinda Butler, W. Wheeling, O.

"I had grip three months; could not sleep; pain all over and headaches very bad. Dr. Miles' Nervine, Pain Pills and Liver Pills made me well." Mrs. E. C. Bowlby, Waterloo, Ind.

JAY M'CRACKEN OUT.

Jay McCracken, cashier of the Pennsylvania local offices, appeared at his office yesterday and was given a hearty greeting by the men employed there. A few weeks ago it was feared Mr. McCracken would not be able to return to his dutes, so serious was his condition. He suffered from the effects of a too early resumption of work after passing through a very severe illness. Mr. McCracken will resume the regular duties of his office next Friday. During Mr. McCracken's absence, Jack Foster was the acting cashier.

FRONTAL BONE FRACTURED.

Hubert Kuper sustained a fracture of the frontal bone yesterday at the Organ works, where he is employed. While walking across one of the rooms he slipped upon the smooth floor and fell, striking on his forehead. The injury rendered him unconscous and in that condition he was conveyed to his home, on Monroe street, where Dr. Schilling attended him. Dr. Schilling believes Mr. Kuper will recover, notwithstanding the seriousness of his injury.

FLOUR AND COPPER MOVING.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana road is turning over at this point a great lot of freight to the Nickel Plate. Yesterday it brought down from the north and turned over to the Nickel Plate twenty-six car loads of flour and copper. The flour came from the Pillsbury & Washburn mills in Minneapolis. To the average citizen the query arises, Why does the Grand Rapids, a Pennsylvania line, turn over all this eastbound business to the Nickel Plate, a Vanderbilt line? Last year all the Minneapolis flour handled by the Grand Rapids and Indian road went east from Fort Wayne over the Nickel Plate road.

STOCKMEN'S RETURN PASSES.

So much trouble has been occasioned by the illegitimate use of stock shippers' return transportation that the railroads propose to minimize the evil by refusing to check baggage thereon. There is no reason why this rule should not prevail. Transportation is given to the stock shipper because of the necessity for some one to attend to the stock in transit, and the return pass is issued more as a matter of courtesy, or, rather, obligation, than for any other reason. In a large number of cases the person who accompanies the stock to the market has no intention of returning, and the result is that the return transportation furnished is simply so much revenue thrown away by the road, as it takes the place of a ticket which would otherwise be purchased. Its principal effect will be to render the return ticket less valuable for sale, as, because of the baggage restriction, it will not be so readily sold within the time limit allowed.

Alf Raifsnyder, night yardmaster at the depot yards of the Pittsburg, is sick with the grip. Switchman William Hayes is performing that duty during the absence of Mr. Raifsnyder.

The Eagle Hoop company, of Sheldon, Ind., is about to install an electric light plant in its factory. Today the Fort Wayne Electric company sent a dynamo to that place for that purpose.

One of the new passenger engines of the Lake Shore last week hauled a train of eight passenger cars from Waterloo to Toledo, eighty miles, in eighty-two minutes, including two slow downs.

William Hayes, steam hammer operator, resigned his position at the Wabash shops last night. He has received an offer of a position in Pennsylvania from George A. Judy and will accept.

The Wisconsin Central, the Chicago Great Western and the Minneapolis and St. Louis steadily refuse to become members of the Western Passenger association, despite the extra inducements that have been offered.

K. Harwood, who was buried at Decatur, Ill., last week, had been in the railroad business for nearly forty years, first with the Wabash, the last eleven years as agent of the Indiana, Decatur and Western at Decatur.

Passenger conductors on many of the lines have received instructions to discontinue the practice of tearing off mileage before trains have started, in order the the book could be left behind for other members of the family.

Yesterday the Nickel Plate sent a special, consisting of an engine and two coaches to Hibbard, Ind., to carry a party of Culver students to Chicago. The special was in charge of Conductor Stone and Engineer Henry Studer.

Yesterday's storm caused Nickel Plate trains from the east to be late in reachng the city. No. 1 was two and a half hours and No. 3 was one and a quarter hours behind schedule time when they arrived here.

Engineers C. Lehr, C. A. Colmey and W. Beck and Firemen J. H. Knight, L. E. Wallick, C. E. Larkin, Henry Saynor and George Bowser, of the Pittsburg, went on the sick list yesterday, being afflicted with the grip.

Yardmaster W. F. Waterson, of the Nickel Plate, was attacked by the grip Sunday night and is likely to be off duty a few days. James Nicholson has charge of the yards in the meantime. Brakeman L. P. Stone is also sick.

Local freight business is picking up at a rapid rate and truckmen at some of the warehouses are having all the business they can attend to. The Pennsylvania was compelled to add another trucking crew to its warehouse force and twelve crews are now at work there.

Last week the last section of the Baltimore and Ohio between Philadelphia and its western terminals was laid with heavy rails. Near Baltimore the road is now using rails weighing 110 pounds per yard, on the Philadelphia division ninety pounds per yard, and on all the other divisons eighty-five pounds.

Business for the Pennsylvania company has taken Capt. H. M. Diehl to Pittsburg to remain a few days. Captain Diehl will soon leave upon an air-brake instruction trip. His car, which has been remodeled, will soon be finished and be one of the most thoroughly equipped air-brake cars in the United States.

Passenger Brakeman A. B. Tousley, who has been ill three or four weeks, will tomorrow commence instructing trainmen on the western division of the Pittsburg road in the use and care of the steam heating apparatus on trains. He will be on the road constantly in this capacity for a week or two and then resume his regular duties.

Indianapolis Journal: "The Pennsylvania now has 1,860 locomotives and will build 200 more this year. In this respect the Pennsylvania will be the only road in the world having engine numbers corresponding with the year dates of the twentieth century, as the Pennsylvania keeps but very few dead numbers on the list."

Indianapolis Journal: "The speculative possibilities of stock of the Wabash lines, in view of the fact that it is the only remaining independent road to Kansas City and also a strong rival of the Vanderbilt lines in the central states, makes a nucleus on which to build a variety of rumors, but the most plausible one is that it is to be made a strong ally of the Lackawanna road, over which through service is now operated."

"Mrs. Pinkham Saved me from an Operation."

Hospitals in our great cities are sad places to visit.
Three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow-white beds are women and girls.
Why should this be the case?
Because they have neglected themselves.
Every one of these patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at the left or right of the womb, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back. All of these things are indications of an unhealthy condition of the ovaries or womb.
What a terrifying thought! these poor souls are lying there on those hospital beds awaiting a fearful operation.
Do not drag along at home or in your place of employment until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an examination and possible operation. Build up the female system, cure the derangements which have signified themselves by danger signals, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from the hospital. Read the letter here published with the full consent of the writer, and see how she escaped the knife by a faithful reliance on Mrs. Pinkham's advice and the consistent treatment of her medicines.

Mrs. Knapp tells of her Great Gratitude.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have received much benefit from using your Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. After my child was born, blood poison set in, which left me with granulated inflammation of the womb and congested ovaries. I had suffered from suppressed and painful menstruation from a girl. The doctors told me the ovaries would have to be removed. I took treatment two years to escape an operation, but still remained in miserable health in both body and mind, expecting to part with my reason with each coming month. After using one bottle of the Compound, I became entirely rid of the trouble in my head. I continued to use your remedies until cured.

"The last nine months have been passed in perfect good health. This, I know, I owe entirely to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"My gratitude is great indeed to the one to whom so many women owe their health and happiness."—MRS. F. M. KNAPP, 1528 Kinnickinnic Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 29.—King Edward left Cowes for London this morning.

The duke of York is suffering from the strain of recent events and has been confined to his room since Thursday. It is feared he will be unable to take part in the ceremonies of Friday.

The only American wreath which has arrived at Osborne so far is one from Mrs. Sydney Everett, of Boston, who is staying on the Isle of Wight. It is inscribed: "In token of life-long veneration and reverence."

The outer coffin arrived last night. The non-commissioned officers detailed to carry the coffin rehearsed today with a dummy coffin filled with sand and weighing over half a ton.

The main wing of Osborne house is expected to become the residence of Princess Beatrice in her capacity as governor of the Isle of Wight. The other part of the house will be reserved for the king.

Gen. Sir Dighton Probyn, comptroller and treasurer of the household of the prince of Wales since 1877, is mentioned as likely to succeed Lord Edward Pelham-Clinton as master of the household. The office is in the personal gift of the king.

Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark is expected to arrive in London tomorrow. Prince Henry of Prussia sailed from Kiel yesterday on board the German battleship Baden, accompanied by the coast defense ship Hagen. Prince George of Saxony is prevented by influenza from coming to the funeral. Prince John George will take his place.

Duke Albrecht will represent the king of Wurtemburg. The crown prince, Ferdinand of Roumania, is expected Thursday night in London. The Orleans family will be represented by the duke of Chartres, younger brother of the late count of Paris; the duke of Alecon and the count of Eu, sons of the late duke of Nemours, between whom and the late queen, in 1838, Louise Philippe proposed to arrange a marriage.

KING REACHES LONDON.

London, Jan. 29.—King Edward and the duke of Cambridge arrived in London at 3 o'clock this afternoon. A large crowd welcomed the king at Victoria station. His majesty will finally approve of the funeral arrangements during the course of the afternoon. There is a great deal of surmise as to what disposal will be made of the king's late residence. Both the king and Queen Alexandria are devoted to Sandringham, so his majesty will probably retain that place; but it is thought Marlborough house will be given up. In the event of the duke and duchess of York not desiring to reside there, it is considered likely that William K. Vanderbilt will purchase the place for the duke and duchess of Marlborough, of which the duchess has long desired to obtain possession.

This morning there was a rehearsal along the route of the funeral procession. The eight Hanoverian horses which will draw the gun carriage, took a heavily laden brake, estimated to be of the weight of the gun carriage and coffin, over the route. Numerous carriages followed and a number of mounted men representing the foreign princes and others who will ride in the procession.

It has been arranged that the Eton Boys will line the route from the Long Walk gates to Windsor castle, while the military knights of Windsor will be on duty in the chapel during the funeral services.

THE FUNERAL PROGRAM.

It is now understood the funeral program in London will be approximately as follows:

A sovereign's escort of 100 life guards, the massed bands of three regiments of foot guards; Field Marshal Earl Roberts and the headquarters staff; an army gun carriage with the body; the king, supported by the German emperor; the king of Portugal and the other reigning sovereigns in the order of precedence; the dukes of Connaught and York; the equerries and aides-de-camp in attendance on royal personages; Queen Alexandra, the duchess of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha and other royal princesses, in four carriages deeply draped, and, in the rear of the procession, another sovereign's escort of 100 life guards.

A SENSATIONAL STORY.

Berlin, Jan. 29.—The Vorwaerts (socialist organ) today printed a remarkable story to the effect that Emperor William's sudden departure for England was not only due to a desire to bid farewell to his dying grandmother, but still more to the prince of Wales' urgent wish to settle a private debt to the emperor before ascending the throne.

This debt, the Vorwaerts asserted, amounted to 24,000,000 marks, which Emperor Frederick, immediately after beginning his reign, loaned the prince of Wales in order to place the latter in a position to pay accumulated debts to the amount of 24,000,000 marks.

The loaned money, it was further asserted, was part of the savings, amounting to 56,000,000 marks, left by Emperor William I. Count Von Stolberg, then minister of the imperial household, the Vorwaerts also said, vainly opposed the paying out of the 24,000,000 marks and thereupon resigned.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Indianapolis, Jan. 29.—In the senate today Senator Stillwell, of Gibson county, offered a resolution calling on Governor Durbin to honor a requisition for the return of Taylor and Finley to Kentucky in case application is made by Governor Beckham. The resolution was declared out of order.

The senate adopted favorable reports on the anti-railway subsidy bill and the anti-trust bill introduced by Senator Agnew.

In the house a bill was introduced to provide for a man on the board for the government of the woman's prison. The bill is the result of the current scandals concerning the woman's prison here.

STATE SCANDAL IS ALLEGED.

Indianapolis, Jan. 29.—It having been stated that the various state institutions need thorough overhauling, a caucus of democratic members of the senate and house is booked for tonight. Prominent democrats from all over Indiana are expected. Measures will be inaugurated for a searching investigation. It is said a great deal of evidence has been collected and that it will be laid before the caucus. It includes charges of nepotism in many of the institutions, of cruelty at the women's reformatory, charges of a sensational character in connection with the institution for the deaf and dumb and general charges of extravagance and mismanagement. A complete investigation will be made of the purchase at a cost of $1,100 of a team and rig belonging to E. H. Nebeker by the board of the prison north.

The movement is to introduce a resolution calling for a non-partisan legislative investigation of the institution. If it be voted down the minority will appoint a committee of its own and the most minute infractions will be ventilated. It is said that much of the evidence obtained has been furnished by a republican member of the legislature, who has kept the democrats informed of republican party secrets, some quite sensational.

BILL TO LEGALIZE BOXING.

Indianapolis, Jan. 29.—A bill has been prepared and will be introduced in the legislature, which is intended to legalize prize fighting in Indiana, and it is said to be backed by Chicago parties, who were interested several years ago in the establishment of the O'Malley arena at Roby, which Governor Matthews invoked the militia to suppress. The bill is drawn along the line of the law under which O'Malley operated, and provides for scientific boxing and sparring exhibitions to be given under the auspices of athletic associations, which shall be incorporated under the proposed bill. The measure re-enacts the present anti-prize-fighting law, and excepts from its provisions such exhibitions of athletic skill as are conducted by the incorporated athletic associations.

SECRETARY OF STATE HAY'S REPORT TO CONGRESS.

Washington, Jan. 29.—A most important and interesting summary of what has been achieved by the United States in the direction of opening up and extending our markets abroad, is presented in the following letter from Secretary Hay, which was laid before congress today, accompanying the annual publication known as "Commercial Relations of the United States With Foreign Countries."

"Department of State, Washington, Jan. 26, 1901.—The President—In accordance with section 208, of the revised statutes, I have the honor to transmit the commercial relations of the United States with foreign countries during the year 1900, being the annual and other reports of a comprehensive character from the consular officers, together with similar reports from some of the diplomatic officers, upon the industries and commerce of foreign countries.

"These reports were prepared under special instructions from this department, with the object of laying before congress, with the least delay, a practically contemporaneous statement of the trade, not only of the United States with the rest of the world, but of the various countries with each other. This object, I am happy to be able to say, has been accomplished, the date of transmission to congress this year having been advanced over the usual time by a month, and realizing the utmost conditions of promptitude compatible with a proper analysis of the latest returns for the year 1900.

"So gratifying a result indicates continued improvement in the activity and zeal of our consular officers as well as in the system of publishing and distributing their reports.

"It may be said indeed, that, while a variety of propositions have been under discussion for the improvement of the consular service, the service has to a very considerable extent improved itself, and is winning frequent expressions of commendation from business interests which have received substantial aid, not only from the published reports, but also from the individual efforts of consular officers to meet the growing requirements of American industry and enterprise.

"The practical character of the commercial information obtained by our consuls, and the celerity with which it is given to the public continues to excite the emulation of foreign governments and during the past year steps have been taken by both Great Britain and Germany to engraft these features of our consular work upon their consular systems.

"The general conclusion to be drawn from a survey of the conditions in foreign countries, as described in the reports herewith presented, is that the United States is approaching, even more swiftly than was expected, a position of eminence in the world's markets, due to superior quality and greater cheapness of many lines of its manufactures, which must work great economic changes and may result in moving the center not only of industrial, but of commercial activity and the money power of the world to our marts.

"The trade indications of American supremacy during the past year have been so marked that many foreign industries, according to the reports of our consuls in Europe, are introducing American machinery and labor-saving appliances and remodelling their factory methods, and we may expect in the near future a more strenuous competition, for which it is important we should prepare ourselves.

"As an aid to such equipment, the study of the great mass of information as to foreign industries and trade conditions which is to be found in the two volumes of Commercial Relations, will obviously prove most useful to our manufacturers and exporters, and I, therefore, recommend that congress be requested to authorize, as was done last year, the printing of a special edition of 10,000 copies of the Review of the World's Commerce and 5,000 copies of Commercial Relations. John Hay."

LAW IS CONSTITUTIONAL.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 29.—In a unanimous opinion handed down today the supreme court sustained the constitutionality of the law taxing inheritances. An order was also granted by the court today in answer to ex-Governor Pingree's application directing the Ingham county circuit court to show cause why a writ should not issue prohibiting it from proceeding with the contempt case now pending against ex-Governor Pingree.

NO DANGER OF LYNCHING.

Maysville, Ky., Jan. 29.—William Gibson, who was yesterday indicted for the murder of a child at Cattlettsburg and who was brought to the Maysville jail after an exciting run by the officers to escape would-be lynchers, was taken back to Cattlettsburg jail today. It is not thought further efforts will be made to lynch him.

BIG BLAZE IN DES MOINES

IOWA CAPITAL SUFFERS LOSS OF HALF A MILLION.

Friedlich Clothing Firm, Formerly of Fort Wayne, Sustains a Loss of $30,000.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 29.—Property losses estimated at over half a million dollars were sustained in a fire early today in the business district of this city. The losses are estimated as follows:

Frankel Bros.' department store, $375,000; Younker Bros., $45,000; A. & E. Friedlich stock, $35,000; Utica Clothing company's building, $11,000; C. H. Seeley, $10,000; Des Moines National bank, $5,000; Marx building, $1,000; Sheer building, $3,000; C. W. Hogg company, $10,000; Iowa Telephone company, $7,000; Des Moines City railway company, $3,000; losses to occupants of office rooms, $60,000. It is stated that the losses are fully covered by insurance.

A patrolman discovered the fire shortly after 3 o'clock in the basement of Frankel Bros.' department store. A general alarm was turned in, but before the fire department could make any impression on the flames, which had by this time spread with remarkable rapidity through the building, it was seen that much valuable property adjoining was beginning to burn.

The firemen immediately gave up trying to save the Frankel building and devoted their energies to the surrounding property, consiting of the Des Moines National bank, the Utica Clothing company and the Seeley department store. All of the buildings caught fire repeatedly, but finally, at 6 o'clock, when only one wall of the six-story Frankel building remained upright, the danger of complete destruction to the business center was considered over.

Destruction of the electric light, telephone, telegraph and trolley wires caused much confusion during the morning. The street car service was almost entirely abandoned and many factories depending upon electricity for power were compelled to remain closed during the day.

WILL BUILD A CHURCH.

The Presbyterian congregation at Ossian has decided to begin at once preparations for the erection of a handsome new church to cost from $8,000 to $12,000, and a location has already been purchased at the corner of Main and Lefever streets in that town. The building committee is composed of L. F. Wilson, chairman; J. H. Keefer, A. F. Roe, W. H. Rupright and G. A. Morton. They will proceed at once to secure an architect to make the drawings. Eight thousand dollars have been subscribed since January 1 for the new enterprise.

BUYS A RESIDENCE.

Attorney Owen N. Heaton today purchased the residence property at the northeast corner of Wayne and VanBuren streets, formerly owned by Mrs. White, for a consideration of about $5,000. Mr. Heaton will soon remove from Hoagland avenue to his new home. The transaction today was made through the agency of L. F. Curdes.

RENEWED THE ROW

TWO MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE GROWL AND GLOWER.

BIT OF JOBBERY AT ISSUE

CONCERNING THE SEIZURE OF INDIAN LANDS.

BOTH TREAD NEAR DANGER

SENATE PASSES THE INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL.

Washington, Jan. 29.—When the house convened today Mr. Stephens, of Texas, arose to a question of privilege in connection with the exchange which took place between himself and Mr. Flynn, the delegate from Oklahoma, just prior to adjournment yesterday, when the direct lie was almost passed.

Mr. Stephens read the language used by Mr. Flynn, in which the latter charged that Mr. Stephens had surreptitiously inserted in the bill to ratify the agreement with the Kiowas and Comanche Indians, which became a law June 6, 1900, a clause giving white settlers the right to take up such of these Indian lands as contained minerals.

Mr. Stephens said it was unfortunate for Mr. Flynn that he himself had introduced a bill in January, 1900, which contained the identical language which he now charged was surreptitiously inserted in the bill. He indignantly repelled the insinuation to which Mr. Flynn had given utterance.

Mr. Flynn arose and declared in even more specific language than he used yesterday that when the bill passed no one on the floor except Mr. Stephens knew the section was in the bill.

"Would we have allowed a section to go in," he asked, "which permitted whites to take, without compensation, lands we were allotting to the Indians?"

"Did you not introduce a bill containing similar language?" asked Mr. Stephens, who now confronted the irate Oklahoma delegate across the aisle.

"I had sufficient confidence in the gentleman at that time," retorted Mr. Flynn. "What led to the investigation which unearthed the facts," he continued, "was that the moment the bill passed the gentleman from Texas telegraphed his friends to go into the lands and locate claims."

"Yes, that the bill had passed, but I insist that the investigation developed the fact that the gentleman from Texas was the only member of either house who knew the mining clause was in the bill."

"That statement," cried Mr. Stephens, raising his arm threateningly, "is utterly unfounded and I believe it is knowingly and maliciously made."

"That is strong language," retorted Mr. Flynn, who preserved his equanimity. "I received my information upon a visit to the reservation."

The members of the house at this point expected a sensational explosion, but the incident flattened out.

Mr. Stephens called upon Mr. Curtis, of Kansas, of the committee on Indian affairs, and Mr. Little, of Arkansas, who, he said, knew the section was in the bill, to bear testimony to that effect. Neither of the gentlemen appealed to arose. After a pause the speaker observed dryly: "The gentlemen do not seem to be rising."

This produced a burst of laughter, in the midst of which Mr. Little rose and said he supposed the house knew all about the section. He did, and was in favor of it.

"Did you know that it proposed to take the land of Indians without compensation?" asked Mr. Flynn.

Mr. Little replied that he knew the section was in the bill. The incident was cut short at this point by the ruling of the speaker that the matter was getting beyond the limits of the question of personal privilege. Thereupon Mr. Hull, of Iowa, called up the conference report upon the army re-organization bill and moved that the bill be sent back to conference. The parliamentary tangle resulting from the errors discovered in the original conference report was made the occasion of some sarcastic comment by Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, but after a brief wrangle the motion to send the bill back to conference was agreed to.

The house then went into committee of the whole and took up the agricultural appropriation bill. Mr. Wadsworth, chairman of the agricultural committee, explained the salient features of the measure, which carries $4,377,220, being an increase of $350,550 over the amount of the current law.

IN THE SENATE.

Washington, Jan. 29.—In the senate today the credentials of Senator-elect J. R. Burton, of Kansas, and of Senator-elect R. J. Gamble, of South Dakota, were presented, Mr. Burton's by his predecessor, Mr. Baker, and Mr. Gamble's by Mr. Kyle.

At the conclusion of routine business consideration of the Indian appropriation bill was resumed.

WOULD BUILD A CITY LINE

SOUTHWESTERN TRACTION CO. ASK FOR FRANCHISE.

Petition the Board for Grant of Streets to North Environs of the City.

At the meeting of the board of works held Monday afternoon the Southwestern Railroad company appeared with a petition for an additional franchise to operate an electric line on the streets of the city. The route named in the application was as follows: Beginning at the company's line at Fulton and Pearl streets, thence north to Superior street, west to Van Buren, north to Pape avenue, west to St. Mary's avenue, north to High street, west on High and Jessie to Runion avenue, north to Spring street, and west to the Grand Rapids and Indiana right of way.

From Fulton and Pearl and Harrison the company already has a franchise. This application was accompanied by a petition signed by nearly every property owner along the proposed line asking that the franchise be granted. Representatives of the company were present and said that they were willing to accept a franchise over the streets named on any reasonable terms the board might exact. They are willing to make provision for use of their tracks by any other interurban company under fair conditions and do not ask for a monopoly. They propose to commence work very soon after the franchise is granted and will soon have a first-class service in operation, pointing to the promptitude with which they commenced operations on the Huntington line as evidence of their ability and desire to build railroads on the streets and not on draughtsman's paper. The application and petition will be reviewed by the city attorney before any recommendations are made, but there is scarcely a doubt that the request will be granted, surrounded by proper precautions.

A CORRECTION.

New York, Jan. 29.—On January 19 a New York paper printed a special dispatch from Washington, which said that more than 80,000 pension claims in the office of Milo B. Stevens & Co. had been destroyed by fire. The subject matter of this dispatch was handled from New York. The Associated Press is informed by Milo B. Stevens & Co. that the papers destroyed were private records and included no applications, affidavits or other evidence sent them by their clients. The interruption to their business was very slight.

SUIT TO ENJOIN FIGHT.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 2.—Suit to enjoin the proposed Jeffries-Ruhlin contest, set for February 15 in this city, was filed in the court of common pleas today. Applications for an injunction was not made at that time. Judge Hollister, who is sitting in the common pleas room No. 1, where the hearing will be held, will be asked several days later to issue an injunction. In the interim notice will be served on the defendants.

TAKEN SUDDENLY ILL.

M. Baltes was taken suddenly ill at his home shortly after noon today and suffered a sinking spell as the result of some heart disturbance that for a time greatly alarmed the members of his family. Dr. E. J. McOscar was quickly summoned, and he says the patient's condition is now much more favorable.

The regular meeting of the Ladies' Progressive Aid society will be held at the home of Mrs. Powers, 156 East Wayne street, Wednesday, at 2:30.

WHIPT OF JUSTICE

JENNIE BOSSCHIETER'S MURDERERS SENTENCED.

LAW'S DECREE PRONOUNCED

AN IMPRESSIVE SCENE IN PATERSON COURT.

PRISON FOR THIRTY YEARS

THE PRISONERS NERVOUS AND IN DISTRESS.

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 29.—Walter C. McAlister, William A. Death and Andrew J. Campbell, who were found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Jennie Bosschieter on October 18, 1900, by the administration of chloral, and subsequent rape, together with George J. Kerr, who pleaded non vult contends to a charge of rape, were brought into the court of oyer and terminer today for sentence by Judge Dixon.

McAlister, Campbell and Death were each sentenced to thirty years imprisonment at hard labor and Kerr to fifteen years imprisonment at hard labor. The sentences of all the men are the full terms of imprisonment which the law provides, but in the case of Kerr a fine of $1,000 might have been added.

The court room was crowded to its utmost capacity when Judge Dixon took his seat on the bench. The corridors of the court house were also filled with people, and on the sidewalk and in front crowds of the curious were assembled.

In the court room were the father, stepmother and sister of Jennie Bosschieter, who had been given seats where they could have a good view of all that transpired. A few minutes after court had been declared opened McAlister, Campbell and Death were brought in by deputy sheriffs and seated.

The proceedings began with a plea by Michael Dunn, one of the attorneys for the convicted men, for clemency for his clients. He urged that in the cases of Death and Campbell the question of their reformation was worthy of consideration by the court. Counsel also submitted a petition signed by many citizens asking for mercy for Campbell, who had been known for many years to the petitioners as industrious, temperate and of good character.

Ex-Judge Scott addressed the court in McAlister's behalf, urging previous good character and high family connections.

McAlister, Campbell and Death were then told to stand up. McAlister and Death looked extremely pale and Death had the appearance of suffering greatly under the strain.

Judge Dixon, addressing the three prisoners, said:

"You stand convicted of murder in the second degree. Had you been found guilty of murder in the first degree the punishment would have been death, but the leniency of the jury in the exercise of their lawful authority saved you from the gallows. We must administer laws as they are. It is true these sentences will destroy your lives, obliterating every prospect of an honorable existence among the people. The court cannot make any distinction, but must sentence you for this crime. I trust the fearful consequences from this crime will help young men and young women of this community and point out to them that they cannot hope to secure happiness outside of virtue and honor. The sentence of the court is that each of you be imprisoned in the state prison at Trenton at hard labor for a term of thirty years."

Saturday the concern ceased to exist as the Rogers Locomotive Works, and the directors became trustees. The works will now be sold to the highest bidder as the law provides.

IT CAME OUR WAY

FORT WAYNE GOT ABOUT EVERYTHING IN SIGHT.

ROYAL LEAGUE SESSION ENDS

W. S. WELLS AND J. T. LEACH ARE HONORED.

HEADQUARTERS REMAIN HERE

WILL ESTABLISH A LADIES' AUXILIARY.

The Indiana advisory committee of the Royal League has concluded its deliberations, and most of the visiting members have departed for their homes. Fort Wayne fared extremely well in the honors of the occasion, for two of the local members, W. S. Wells and J. T. Leach, were chosen to the highest positions within the gift of the state branch of the order, and Fort Wayne was also made the state headquarters for the coming year. The new state officers elected were as follows:

Archon—John T. Leach, of Fort Wayne.

Vice-Archon— George Mueller, of Lafayette.

Scribe—Charles Darling, of Indianapolis.

Treasurer—E. H. Waldo, of Anderson.

Orator—Dr. E. G. Prall, of Indianapolis.

Past Archon—William S. Wells, of Fort Wayne.

Guide—Ed. S. B. Seguine, of Indianapolis.

Prelate — George W. Cotton, of Richmond.

Warder—W. E. Miller, of Goshen.

Sentry—N. R. Howard, of Lafayette.

A WOMAN'S BRANCH.

At the session Monday afternoon a strong effort was made to admit women as members of the Royal League, allowing them to participate in all the fraternal and insurance features of the order. The proposition had many earnest supporters, but upon a balolt it was defeated. It was, however, decided to advocate the creation of a ladies' auxiliary to the league, and this will doubtless be done within a short time.

The officers' reports showed that during the past year the order has made notable gains in Indiana without especial effort, but it is the intention during 1901 to bring a number of organizers into Indiana who will be able to build up the order very materially before another annual session of the committee, to be held in this city early in 1902.

THE EVENING SESSION.

The evening session was a most enjoyable one, for it combined many social pleasures with the business at hand. The officers of Old Fort and Anthony Wayne councils were duly installed by Supreme Scribe C. E. Piper, assisted by W. E. Brandt, deputy supreme archon of Ohio, Otis Piper, of Illinois, and Charles Darling, of Indianapolis. Following this ceremony the officers of the advisory council were inducted into their positions. The event closed with an entertainment and banquet at Harmony hall, where addresses were made by Supreme Scribe C. E. Piper, of Illinois, Supreme Representative W. S. Wells, of Fort Wayne, and other prominent members of the order.

WILL DIVIDE INTO CLASSES.

The recently organized Wyandotte Athletic club will hold a meeting Wednesday evening in the assembly room in the court house. It is found necessary to divide the club into classes, in order to give all members active part in the exercises. A committee composed of Messrs. Reed, Wilkinson, Smith, Patton, Bowers and Oddou has been appointed to confer with out-of-town clubs regarding the meeting to be held in the spring.

Mrs. E. L. Vaurin, of 58 West Fifth street, says: "I had backache and a soreness across the small of my back which bothered me to stoop, and I had other symptoms of kidney complaint which were very bad and which left no doubt as to the nature of my trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills, sold at Meyer & Co.'s drug store, took right hold and proved beneficial from the very start. It was not many days before all the symptoms disappeared. I keep this remedy in the house all the time so as to be sure and have it handy if I should ever feel a return of the trouble."

CAME TO FORT WAYNE IN 1840

MRS. F. HILDEBRAND IS CALLED FROM EARTH.

For Many Years a Resident of Marion Township—Other Deaths and Funerals.

Mrs. Fredricka Hildebrand, of Marion township, one of the early settlers in Allen county, passed away at the home of her son, August Hildebrand, on Monday morning at 1:20 o'clock, after an extended illness from the infirmities of old age.

Mrs. Hildebrand was born in Lene, Germany, in February, 1822, and came to Fort Wayne in 1840, residing in this city for about two years. She then removed with her husband to Marion township, where she had resided ever since. Her husband died several years ago and since that time she had made her home with her son August. Mrs. Hildebrand, had she survived but a few days longer, would have reached her seventy-ninth birthday. She was the mother of fourteen children, five of whom survive her—August, of Marion township; William, of Washington township; Fred, of this city; Mrs. Elizabeth Brookmeyer, of Marion township, and Mrs. Minnie Axt, of this city. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. H. Hildebrand and Mrs. Kruse, of this city.

Funeral services will be held on Friday at noon from the house and at 1 o'clock from the Lutheran church at Soest. Interment at Soest.

OERTEL.

Bernart Oertel, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Oertel, of Smith street, died last night of pneumonia, at the age of three years.

Funeral services will be held from the residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

ABOUT ANOTHER CHARTER

TRADES AND LABOR COUNCIL WILL NOT HAVE ONE.

Amendment to Constitution Defeated —A Lengthy Session Full of Incidents.

The Trades and Labor council held a long and busy session last evening and it was nearly midnight when adjournment was reached. A number of new delegates were obligated and the committee on fair reported progress and asked for further time before making a specific report, which request was granted. The fair will be held immediately after Lent. There was the usual number of reports from committees and officers, and among other things it was announced that there are now two union broom factories in Fort Wayne whose goods are on sale at most stores and union men were requested to see that their families used none but brooms having on them the union label. The principal discussion of the evening was brought out when the amendment to the constitution was brought up on its third reading for final passage. A year ago the council, being itself a central delegate body, decided to return its American Federation of Labor charter and work independently. There are some unions which have no standing with the American Federation of Labor, and as the council was organized as a local institution to shelter all protective bodies, irrespective of their parent bodies, it was thought best to dispense with the charter, while at the same time working in perfect harmony with American Federation of Labor interests. The amendment was to again work under a charter. The discussion was long and passionate at times and when finally a vote was taken the amendment was defeated, the result being 19 against and 31 for the charter, the advocates lacking seven of having the constitutional two-thirds necessary to carry an amendment. H. A. Rogers, on a question of personal privilege, asked permission to refute the statement published that he had been at Indianapolis representing himself as the mouthpiece of organized labor in an effort to defeat the city charter bill. He also called attention to the fact that Chairman Keegan had flourished a letter at Indianapolis purporting to have been written by the president of the council, denouncing Rogers. The letter in question was written by Mr. Hoeltje, who is not president of the council and who made no such statement and between whom and Rogers the most cordial relations exist. Mr. Rogers' explanation was endorsed.

A week ago the Barbers' union published a set of resolutions stating that Federal Labor union No. 6620 had no charter and that President Baker, who was elected president of the council as a delegate from that body, was illegally holding office and virtually demanding his resignation. Delegate Mitchell, of the Federal Labor union, called attention to the resolutions, called them an outrage, said they were inspired by malice and petty jealousy, declared the statements in the resolution a tissue of falsehoods, and in support of his statement produced the union's charter, together with some official correspondence with the officers of the American Federation of Labor. He then made a motion that Charles Steiss, of the Barbers' union, who drew the resolutions, be mandated by the council to make an apology to the president of the council, the delegates of the union affected and the local organizers of the American Federation of Labor, and that apology and retraction of the resolutions be given the same publicity as the original resolutions. The motion was carried without a dissenting voice. Mr. Steiss, being present, then arose and said that he had been misinformed, that he meant no evil and no disrespect to the president and the union named, and expressed regret at the occurrence. The statement was satisfactory and the incident was closed, except that the Barbers' union was exonerated from evil intent, but was requested to officially correct the mistake that was officially promulgated. After the appointment of a committee to secure a new hall, to report at the next meeting, the council adjourned.

HOW TO TELL THE GENUINE.

The signature of E. W. Grove appears on every box of the genuine Laxative Bromo-Quinine.

STURDY BLACKSMITHS

Learn Facts About Coffee.

Two blacksmiths of Northampton, Mass., Messrs. Thayer and McGrath, both discovered that coffee was the cause of heartburn and sour stomach continually troubling them in spite of active exercise.

They left off the coffee and began taking Postum Food Coffee. The trouble disappeared at once, and both men are now enthusiastic over Postum.

If powerful men like blacksmiths are affected by the drugs contained in ordinary coffee, it would seem folly for brain workers to try to withstand the effects of it.

Hiram Day, a man seventy-five years old, also of Northampton, had used coffee for a great many years, and developed serious bilious troubles. A few months ago he left off coffee and began using Postum Food Coffee. He has recovered his health and considers Postum in every way superior to ordinary coffee.

Eason P. Clark, also of Northampton, Mass., a pencil manufacturer, was troubled with dyspepsia and kidney disorders. He was induced to leave off coffee and use Postum Food Coffee in its place. He says he has never been as well in twenty-five years as he is at present, and gives the entire credit to Postum.

Nearly every coffee user is ill in some part of the body. Coffee does not directly affect the same organs in every man or woman, but the effect is first on the stomach, and from that to the nervous system. When the nerves are out of order it may show in the different organs like the kidneys, liver, heart, lungs, bowels or some other part of the body, or the trouble may show itself in a general nervous and unbalanced condition. When coffee is dispensed with, and nature begins to set up a cure it is very greatly helped in this work by the use of Postum Food Coffee, for it contains certain elements that the life force uses to build up the cells and the gray matter in the nerve centers. Any person can prove this by trial.

The Anglo-German entente seems to have sprouted some new roots in the tear-moistened soil of Osborne. If it makes for peace it will not disturb the dead queen.

Almost as soon as there is promise of a larger army the need for it disappears, according to the Manila dispatches, which say the insurrectos are surrendering in droves and giving voluntary bond to keep the peace.

If the bill, already through the senate, adopting electricity as a means of inflicting capital punishment in this state becomes a law, there may doubtless be expected a sudden revival of popularity of extreme penalty in murder cases. The public as well as small boys is usually impatient to try its new machines.

C. F. W. Neely, the alleged embezzler of postal funds in Cuba, makes out something of a case in defense, though no one is prepared to believe that he is not guilty of dishonesty. There has been much that is mysterious about the developments in the Cuban postal frauds and there is more than breeze in Neely's charge that he is to be the scapegoat. It is unfortunate that he is to be tried according to the Spanish system of criminal jurisprudence. The American article would be better.

A Solomon has exhaled wisdom and likewise a Daniel has come to judgment in a Wisconsin court in the person of Judge Burnell, who rules that excessive cigarette smoking is good ground for divorce. The judgment was rendered in the case of a woman who alleged that life with her husband was no longer bearable because he was a cigarette fiend. Not to speak of the various human degenerates begotten by excessive cigarette smoking, the fact that any man keeps his person intolerably vile and his home stifling with cigarette smoke is good cause for separate maintenance, if not for divorce.

Hon. Charles A. Towne, late United States senator from Minnesota, wore his toga scarcely long enough to get the store wrinkles out of it, but he created an opportunity to warm the senate up a bit before he retired. His speech on the Philippine question yesterday was not only one of the ablest arguments yet presented to the senate on that issue, but was one of the most eloquent and graceful flights of oratory heard in the upper body of congress for a long time. Senator Towne is admittedly one of the nation's greatest orators. To sit in the senate, even for the brief term of a month, without having contributed something to the speech-making traditions of that august body, was somewhat more than could be expected of a great master of eloquence. So Mr. Towne made his speech and it attracted as well as captivated a splendid audience. But it was the song of the swan. Almost immediately upon the conclusion of Senator Towne's speech his successor, Mr. Clapp, appeared at the bar of the senate and was sworn in and Senator Towne became a private citizen. However, he is young as well as great, and his career has not gone up a blind alley.

Something new in the line of confections for children has come to light in Chicago and it is somewhat more devilish, if possible, than the cigarette. It is called "gumbacco," and is the ordinary chewing gum of commerce mixed with pulverized tobacco. Some children in one of the public schools of Chicago became violently ill while at their books and investigation disclosed that they had purchased "gumbacco" at a confectioner's, making use of it as ordinary chewing gum. Of course it had the usual effect of tobacco upon all unaccustomed stomachs. The man who would sell such a compound ought to be dealt with less severely only than the man who makes it.

REAL WORK TO BEGIN.

Apropos the auditorium project, many excellent persons perhaps have thought there has been much cry and little wool, a great deal of talk and little building. Now it must be kept in view that noise is a good thing when employed to rouse sleepy persons. There has been some fear that Fort Wayne might not be fully awake to the importance of this auditorium enterprise. The purpose of any noise that has been made was to call attention to the fact that an effort is under way to do something big and beneficent for the city. There is to be more noise. The auditorium project will not succeed unless there is enlisted the enthusiastic interest of all the people of the city. Genuine interest in anything must spring from understanding of the thing itself. It is the immediate purpose to make clear beyond all dispute that Fort Wayne needs an auditorium; that an auditorium will be about the best thing that can happen to Fort Wayne; that it will confer many benefits upon the city as a community and upon every person in the city; that it will promote art, education, morals, commerce, industry, civic pride and healthful amusements. It is purposed to convince every person with a dollar to spare that such person has a direct material personal interest in the construction of the auditorium; that it is a project commanding the support of every one who lives in Fort Wayne, is proud of the city, hopeful of its future and patriotic enough to contribute to its prestige and good name. After a short campaign of noise has brought about a thorough public awakening, real work will begin. The soliciting committee will call on you to get that generous subscription you shall have been stimulated to resolve upon. The Commercial club's auditorium committee has completed the machine wherewith the auditorium funds are to be raised. Don't buck against the machine. Turn to with willing hand and help to heave this great and splendid enterprise out of the vapors of doubt into the clear light. Your help is essential, vital, indispensable for any one and everyone has as good excuse to hold back as yourself, and there is no excuse for any one. Help on the noise and then be ready to help on with the work that is to follow. Forty-five thousand people can unitedly settle the auditorium question right in a short time. A few fellows backing water can hamper the enterprise seriously, if not fatally. Get yourself in the game and your subscription, the best you can afford, in the basket.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address F. J. THE CASE HELD UP

BECOMES LUNACY INQUIRY

TRIAL OF MARION MURDERER AT WABASH.

GENERAL NEWS OF THE STATE OF INDIANA.

Wabash, Ind., Jan. 29.—The trial of John Rinkard, brought from the Grant circuit court to this county on a change of venue, was begun at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, when thirty witnesses were sworn. Rinkard is charged with the murder of his wife, and the state asks a verdict of murder in the first degree. John A. Kersey, the counsel for the prisoner, waiving the question of the mental condition at the time of the shooting, declared that the law forbade the trial of an insane man and demanded that a lunacy commission examine Rinkard before beginning the case. To this Prosecutor Amsden made a vigorous objection, asserting that the time for an inquiry into the mental state of the accused should have been before the case was brought to Wabash. Judge Shively has decided that Rinkard should be examined before his trial. The case was then adjourned until Friday, at which time the result of the investigation will be made known.

CITIZENS DISFRANCHISED.

Crawfordsville, Ind., Jan. 29.—The cases of the forty-six men who are charged with selling their votes at the last election were called in court and the case against Rufus Wells was the first to be put on trial. It took most of the day to get a jury. The main witness against Wells was Charles Benjamin, who testified that he agreed to give Wells $15 for his vote at the request of his son, Charles, and that Wells was paid Sixty Taylor Thompson and that a receipt therefor, which was introduced as evidence. Wells was found guilty and the sentence passed involves his disfranchisement for fifteen years. Roy Nicholson and Charles Hays plead guilty to the charges against them, and were disfranchised for twelve years each.

ANOTHER DAILY AT MARION.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 29.—The Marion Tribune began publication in this city yesterday afternoon. It is a seven-column, eight-page paper, metropolitan in style. It starts out with a circulation of 4,000 copies daily. The Associated Press report is used, and the personnel of the local staff is exceptionally strong for a paper in a city the size of Marion. The plant is equipped with the latest machinery, and is operated by electricity. The paper is strictly republican in politics. E. L. Goldthwait, one of the best known newspaper men in the state, is manager, and the company is composed of several of Marion's wealthiest and most influential citizens. In the salutatory but one issue is outspoken upon, and that is with reference to subsidies in any form, against which the new paper takes a decided stand. The proposition to appropriate $100,000 to the Cincinnati, Richmond and Muncie Railway company is denounced.

MARION'S MAYOR AROUSED.

Marion, Ind., Jan. 29.—Two men at 10 o'clock Sunday night went to Gus Allman's house. The children went to the door, but would not let them in. After finding no grown person were at home, the men climbed up the veranda to an upper room and got $15. Later burglars entered the barber shop of George Horne, secured $12 and cooked supper in a back room while Horne slept. Yesterday the mayor, for the first time in the history of Marion, ordered every saloon closed at lawful hours and gambling houses closed beginning last night. Each patrolman, on whose beat a gambling house is found open or a saloon open after 11 o'clock, will be discharged. The police claim that gamblers are committing the burglaries.

BEGINS WORK WITH SERMON

Washington, Ind., Jan. 29.—Rev. J. L. Gaiby, pastor of the First Presbyterian church in this city, has been placed on the pay roll at L. H. Creager's stave and heading factory in this city, and every morning for one month he will deliver a fifteen-minute sermon to the fifty men employed in the factory. He delivered his first sermon yesterday morning, his subject being, "Things to Think About." It was something new to the men and they stood about in their shirt sleeves and listened attentively. Mr. Creager says the churches of to-day are too aristocratic for the average working man to attend, and that his object in beginning the day's work with a short sermon is to give the minister an opportunity to sow seed in neglected soil. The workmen are given full pay for the time spent in attending religious services.

DISAPPEARED WITH $2,500.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 29.—Enos Phillips thinks that the skeleton found by men who were digging a sewer in the heart of the city is that of Mase Howell, a step-brother to Phillips, who disappeared eighteen years ago. Howell was seen by several persons as he entered his home one night, and from that time his whereabouts have been a mystery. He had $2,500 in his pockets when he disappeared, and neither he nor the money was ever heard from.

REAPED FORTUNE IN ALASKA.

Bluffton, Ind., Jan. 29.—David Smith went west twenty years ago to prospect for gold. He spent seventeen years in California, and then joined the rush to the Klondike. He is here visiting his sister, Mrs. W. L. McFarren, and claims he has gathered a snug fortune from the gold regions of Alaska.

MEDICAL SOCIETY MEETING.

THE MANTLE OF OTHERS.

[Washington Times.]

Though Representative J. M. Robinson, of Indiana, has done much to make him famous, he gets credit for doing a great many things that he has not done. He is probably the worst victim of mistaken identity on the floor of the house. He gets the mail of others; others get his mail. He makes speeches, and others get the credit for the effort, and vice versa. He and Representative Claude A. Swanson are the two Dromios, and the number of times that they are taken for each other are almost countless. They are not quite the same height, but are of the same proportions, are both dark in complexion and both have black hair, slightly touched with grey.

"Mr. Swanson has suffered more from our personal resemblance than I, for he is continually losing congratulations on his oratorical efforts," said Mr. Robinson this morning. "Not long ago when he spoke on the postoffice bill, I found myself besieged in the lobby. Part of the crowd were old Indiana friends who grasped my hand with hearty words of approbation. 'Fine speech, Robinson,' they exclaimed. The others were Virginians who courteously wanted to congratulate me on my masterly effort.' That is only one of a dozen similar incidents. I have to answer all sorts of questions on my candidacy for the governorship, too—a bit of honor which is a legacy from Mr. Swanson, who is a strong candidate for the executive chair in his state. A name-plate hung conspicuously on the breast of each of us, declaring 'This is Swanson,' and 'This is Robinson' seems to be the only way out of the predicament."

A DEEP MYSTERY.

It is a mystery why women endure Backache, Headache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells when thousands have proved that Electric Bitters will quickly cure such troubles. "I suffered for years with kidney trouble," writes Mrs. Phebe Cherley, of Peterson, Iowa, "and a lame back pained me so I could not dress myself, but Electric Bitters wholly cured me, and, although 73 years old, I now am able to do all my housework." It overcomes Constipation, improves Appetite, gives perfect health. Only 50c at Dreier & Bros.' drug store.

MANY MANGLED IN A WRECK

FIVE MEN KILLED IN B. & O. RAILROAD DISASTER.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Jan. 29.—Five persons dead and one severely wounded, two engines and ten loaded cars wrecked is the result of a mistake of a train crew made between Petroleum and Volcano Junction, on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. An engineer mistook the first section of a passing train for the second. Thinking both had passed, he pulled his train on to the main track and sped onward.

The dead:

J. B. Watkins, engineer train No. 98.

W. W. Cunningham, fireman on train No. 98.

M. Courtney, of Parkersburg, brakeman on No. 98.

J. T. Bailey, of Kanawha, fireman on No. 87.

J. G. Bailey, of Kanawha, fireman on No. 87.

The injured:

The Davidson, of Grafton, engineer on No. 87; burned, cut and bruised; will recover.

All the five men piled under the wreck were dead and only one of their bodies has been rescued. He was J. G. Bailey, whose body was crushed so as to be unrecognizable and could only be identified by his watch.

ENGINEER ASLEEP.

The accident occurred in a cut on a curve on a heavy down grade and at the end of a bridge. The third section of No. 8 was on the siding at Petroleum, with orders to wait there until the second section of No. 98 passed east. Engineer Davidson, who escaped with slight injuries, was the engineer on No. 87 and went to sleep on the siding.

When the first section went by he thought it was the second section, and started out on the main track. His fireman and forward brakeman, both of whom were killed, must also have been asleep, for they allowed him to take the train out. The conductor of the first 98, after he passed, saw Davidson pulling out, and tried to wave him to stop, but failed. The conductor of the fourth 87, seeing the third section pull out, ran forward after it as fast as possible, his engineer whistling down brakes, and the conductor of the wrecked train ran over the tops of the cars until he reached the car next to the last one wrecked, in his attempt to stop the engineer, but none of them attracted his attention in time. Conductor Long managed to jump in time to save himself.

What It Looks Like

Here is a picture that shows how Omega Oil looks in the drug store. The wrapper on the outside of the bottle is always printed in green ink. The trade mark is a leaf, as the picture shows, with these words upon it: "Omega Oil. It's Green." Down near the bottom is the written signature of Higinio Espinosa, which is a guarantee that the contents of the bottle are genuine. Never under any circumstances buy a liniment unless this trade mark and name are on the wrapper. Never patronize a druggist who tries to sell you something else when you ask for Omega Oil. Beware of any other oil gotten up to deceive you. Always trade at stores where they give you what you ask for. Omega Oil stops all pains in the back, shoulders, arms, elbows, wrists, legs, knees, ankles and feet. It is good for everything a liniment ought to be good for. Rub it in good and hard, and the pains will go away quickly.

All druggists sell Omega Oil, or can get it for you of any jobber if they want to. If your druggist refuses to sell you the liniment that stops pain, the Omega Chemical Co., 257 Broadway, New York, will mail you a bottle, prepaid, for 50c in cash, money order or stamps.

The Bridal Feast

Is not infrequently followed by a long, lenten period of enforced fasting and fleshly mortification. The cheek grows hollow, the eyes are dull and deep ringed, and the step is slow and languid. There is an "all dragged-out feeling," which makes life an utter burden. The great functional changes which follow marriage are not usually anticipated, or the wifely suffering might be avoided.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best friend of weak and sickly women. It cures the womanly diseases that rob the eye of brightness and the step of lightness. It tones up the system and establishes the womanly organism on a basis of sound health.

"Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, neither opium, cocaine, nor other narcotics. Accept no substitute. There is no other medicine "just as good" for weak and sickly women.

"I had been a great sufferer from female weakness for about two years," writes Mrs. Emma Richardson, of Coon, Wayne Co., Ky. "Could not do my work part of the time. I took four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and felt as well as I ever did."

SCORES GOVERNOR

MRS. NATION CARRIES WAR INTO HIGH PLACE.

INVADES EXECUTIVE OFFICE

HAS A WORDY TILT WITH THE KANSAS GOVERNOR.

BOTH DISPLAY ILL TEMPER

AN EXCITING INCIDENT IN TOPEKA.

Topeka, Kas., Jan. 29.—Mrs. Nation visited the county and state officers yesterday and urged them to undertake a more vigorous enforcement of the prohibitory liquor law, not only in Topeka, but through the state. She told the governor that she had come to Topeka to stay until every "joint" is closed.

"I ask you to help me," she said. "As a matter of self-defense I took up this fight. It is not an impulse, but a last resort. I've prayed and cried and laid down on the floor and wept. Something must be done. Ther is murder everywhere, so I took the only means I saw that would give hope."

Governor Stanley defended himself against the woman's criticisms of his official conduct and declared that he had no power under the law to close drinking places; that this duty was left to the local officials. Mrs. Nation replied that he could remove the officials who failed to perform their duty and that he was a coward and a perjurer for not doing it under his oath.

DOESN'T APPROVE METHODS.

The governor said he could not approve Mrs. Nation's methods and she asked him to name a better one. Pointing to a bruise on her face which she received in a saloon raid, Mrs. Nation said:

"You gave me this black eye. You did it undoubtedly because you have failed to peiform your duty. I'm glad I've got it to show you. You remember how Paul and Silas wore their stripes. I'm glad I've got this mark to show you. I want to raise your pity and conscience.

"You can close every 'joint' in Kansas if you will, Governor Stanley. You can do it if you want to, but you won't. But you are a law-breaker yourself if you don't. You took your oath of office to keep the constitution. You refuse my request; you are not only a law-breaker, but a perjurer."

As Mrs. Nation proceeded she became more vehement and her voice quivered. She rose from her chair and looked full in the face of Governor Stanley, and pointing her finger at him, called him "law-breaker" and "perjurer" without the least show of fear. She repeated these words of accusation again and again. He tried to make reply, but she gave him no chance, the words of invective pouring from her with a rush that would not be stemmed.

THE GOVERNOR ENRAGED.

"You cannot come here and talk this way to me. You cannot talk to me this way, I say. You are a woman, but I won't stand it. You will have to leave."

"I am a mother. I am a grandmother, and I represent the mothers of the state."

"You don't. You don't represent them," almost shouted the governor.

The words flew back and forth with such fierceness that it was impossible to distinguish them. The room was in an uproar. Then Mrs. Nation talked more calmly, pleading with the governor to aid her.

"You come with me and help smash saloons," she urged. And then she added:

"If you won't help us; if you won't help me, I'll go around and I'll smash, smash, smash, governor. The devil seems to have a cinch on the men, but he hasn't a cinch on the hatchets and rocks."

Finally Governor Stanley volunteered:

"You get the prosecuting attorneys of the different counties to put the joint keepers in jail and I'll use my power as governor to keep them in. I'll see that they are not pardoned out."

ACCEPTS SUGGESTION.

This promise instantly transformed Mrs. Nation. She fairly beamed with joy, and thanking the governor, started for the office of Attorney General Goddard. The attorney general was engaged, but she forced her way into his private office and introduced her subject with these words:

"We want you to close these joints, these murder shops. I want a straight message from you to the county attorney telling him to do his duty. It is a shame that the officers of this state will drive the women to do this kind of work, but unless you do your duty the women will get out and do theirs. If Governor Stanley will trade places with me I'll show him that the saloons can be closed, or if he will come along with me and use a hatchet I'll show him what a woman can do, and I am only a poor old grandmother."

Mrs. Nation also visited the county attorney and the sheriff and repeated her plea for the enforcement of the law. At all of these places she was followed by crowds of curious people, but there were no violent demonstrations.

ISN'T WORKING FOR MONEY.

Mrs. Nation says she is not in this business for money; that she has received only $10 since she started on her trip. Last night a collection was taken for her, but she turned it over to the pastor of the church, with the remark:

"I am not in the work for the money, but for the good I may do. I want to save our boys from death, and the worst kind of death, and I want to save the mothers and wives from sorrow and suffering. You men do not understand me, but these mothers do."

MAY MOVE IT TO FORT WAYNE

LOCAL CAPITAL IN A HUNTINGTON ENTERPRISE.

Stock Being Subscribed to Bring Engine and Bicycle Factory to This City.

Stock is now being solicited for a new company which will bring the plant of the Huntington Manufacturing company to this city. The factory builds Pioneer bicycles and Pioneer gasoline engines, and is owned by Van B. Perrine, of this city.

Within a very short time the business of the company has entirely outgrown the capacity of the Huntington plant, and Mr. Perrine desires to remove it to Fort Wayne and greatly enlarge the works. For this purpose he desires the organization of a stock company capitalized at from $50,000 to $100,000, and the work of soliciting subscriptions of stock has been going forward for some time. It is said that about $30,000 of the amount is already subscribed, and prospects are very bright for an early consummation of the plan.

About sixty-five hands are employed at the Huntington factory. The Pioneer bicycle is a high-grade machine and is already well known. The gasoline engine also built by the company is made in but one size, one and one-half horse power, and is designed to fill every requirement where light power is used. The cylinder is cooled by air instead of water, and it has many points of excellence over similar machines. Wabash and Anderson are each after the factory, but Mr. Perrine prefers to locate it in Fort Wayne if sufficient capital stock is subscribed. A sample of the engine is now on exhibition in the windows of the Randall Cycle company.

Mrs. O. P. Wilmot and Mrs. G. E. Potter entertained today at the home of Mrs. Potter in compliment to Mrs. Marks, of Tidoute, Pa.

MUTILATED BY A BUZZ SAW

E. HARTMAN LOSES THREE FINGERS AND A THUMB.

Accident at Hoffman's Mill—Morris Miller Gets His Hand Between Cog Wheels.

Eugene Hartman, an employe of Hartman Bros.' mills, was the victim of a distressing accident at 10 o'clock this morning. Hartman was operating a buzz saw when in some manner his right hand came in contact with the saw. The injured man was removed to St. Joseph's hospital where the Drs. McBeth and Dr. G. B. Stemen found it necessary to amputate three fingers and a part of the thumb from the right hand. Hartman is about 18 years of age and resides on Runnion avenue.

HAND IN THE COGS.

Morris Miller, who resides at 3[illegible] Lasselle street, suffered a painful accident this afternoon at the Western Gas Construction company's plant where he is employed. Miller's left hand was caught between the cog wheels of a machine he was operating and all the fingers were badly injured. The first and little fingers are lacerated, while the second and ring fingers are broken. Dr. C. E. Barnett dressed the injury and hopes to save the fingers.

IN JUSTICES' COURTS.

The paternity proceedings instigated some days ago by Myrtle Miller against Bird Allen were set for trial before France this morning. Another continuance was granted until next Thursday. Meantime negotiations are in progress looking toward a settlement of the case out of court and it was for the purpose of reaching a settlement that a continuance was granted.

The Clerks' union filed three affidavits against Levy Bros., of Barr street, for selling goods on Sunday last, the charge being Sabbath desecration. A similar affidavit was filed some days ago. The cases were called in France's court this morning and the defendants pleaded guilty in one case and the other three were dismissed. Allen P. Hickcox filed the affidavit.

Alten Arney has filed an affidavit in Tancey's court charging Scott Tilbury with provoke. The parties live about four miles east of the city on the Maysville road and the difficulty between them is of long standing. The case is on trial this afternoon.

George Westerman, of Maysville, was arraigned in Bullerman's court charged with having sold liquor without a license. He entered a plea of not guilty and the evidence in the case was be heard this afternoon.

John Smith, whose true name is unknown, is being looked for by a constable, who has two warrants for his arrest. One is for obstructing High street and the other is for driving and riding on a sidewalk intended solely for the use of pedestrians. The affidavits were filed in Bullerman's court by Adam Schneider, of the Ninth ward.

A woman whose name was unknown, living on Walton avenue, was taken suddenly ill at Meyer Bros.' drug store late this afternoon. She was conveyed to her home by the police department.

Elegance is Not Extravagance!

Quite the contrary. It pays to buy elegant clothing. But that does not justify a man to pay more for a fine garment at one place than he can get it at another. To do so would be extravagance. But to buy the best quality for the least possible money is genuine economy. Hundreds of people practiced economy at our store yesterday. Hundreds more should take advantage of our sale. Fancy vests at half price, smoking jackets half price, all heavy clothing discounted 20 per cent. with the exception of black and blue worsteds. Hats, caps, fancy shirts, underwear and trunks discounted 10 per cent.

REUBEN S. PATTERSON.

TO CURE THE GRIP.

Advice of a Famous Physician.

First and foremost, REST.

Take care of yourself. Your already weakened nerves want rest and must have it. If the attack is severe go to bed and remain there. More fatalities result from neglect of this precaution than from any other cause.

Eat sparingly. Your digestive organs are in no condition to take care of large quantities of food.

Drink plenty of pure, cold water. It allays the fever, stimulates the kidneys to action and opens up the pores of the skin. Keep the bowels open with Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills.

Take three doses of Dr. Miles' Nervine per day, and if you cannot sleep, take an extra dose at bed time. To further control the fever and to overcome the peculiar aches and pains of grip, use Dr. Miles' Pain Pills. They act quickly and effectually and no bad effects result from their use. These remedies have been thoroughly tested more than a million times and their efficiency is thoroughly established. They never fail to give relief.

Dr. Miles' Remedies can be found at any drug store and they are sold on a positive guarantee that first bottle or package benefits or money refunded.

THE REAL THING

AUDITORIUM PROJECT HAS REACHED NEW STAGE.

ACTUAL WORK SOON TO BEGIN

COMMITTEL HAS ORGANIZED FOR BUSINESS.

THE CITY TO BE CANVASSED

SOLICITING COMMITTEE HAS WORK ARRANGED.

The auditorium project has entered a new stage. It has passed beyond the pale of mere abstract discussion, and has become a matter of actual, tangible work. Within the next two weeks there is to be prosecuted a comprehensive campaign of publicity, and following this, on Monday, February 11, a small army of enthusiastic solicitors will begin a systematic canvass of the city for subscriptions.

It is designed that the advance work of publicity shall be of so thorough and comprehensive character as to permeate every section of the city; to acquaint every citizen of Fort Wayne with the precise nature of the auditorium enterprise, of what the structure is to be, how it is to be secured, and of the benefits which will accrue to the city from the existence of an exposition building large enough for the accommodation of great assemblages of every character. There has been a thorough discussion of the matter in the light of numerous plans and suggestions advanced, and the Commercial club's committee will, with the assistance of the splendid public spirit so characteristic of Fort Wayne, take up the actual work of solicitation with a vigor that promises a magnificently successful outcome.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

The committee held a meeting Monday evening, and there was genuine and whole-sale enthusiasm in the work. On account of illness, George P. Evans resigned from the committee, and S. F. Bowser was appointed to fill the vacancy. The auditorium organization was perfected by the election of officers and the appointment of committees as follows:

Chairman—George W. Beers.
Vice Chairman—Dr. W. O. Gross.
Secretary—John B. Monning.
Treasurer—Ed M. Wilson.
Executive Committee—Charles McCulloch, James M. Barrett, D. C. Fisher, P. A. Randall, Dr. W. O. Gross.
Entertainment Committee—A. J. Moynihan, Robert Millard, S. M. Foster, R. H. Carnahan, S. B. Fleming.

Every step of the work in connection with the project will be under the general supervision of the executive committee. The entertainment committee is to arrange for public entertainments, concerts, etc., for the purpose of raising funds to assist in building the structure, and the advertising committee is to be in charge of the campaign of publicity through which it is hoped to enlist the interest and assistance of every citizen of the city.

PLAN TO BE THOROUGH.

The canvass for subscriptions will be upon a plan more thorough and systematic than has ever been attempted heretofore. D. C. Fisher presented a plan of the city divided into 150 small districts, each of which can be thoroughly canvassed by a committee named for the purpose, and as the head of the work of canvassing a soliciting committee was named. This committee is made up of one member for each of the ten wards in the city, and one for the Spy Run avenue district. The soliciting committee is:

First Ward—C. E. M[illegible].
Second Ward—Harry A. W[illegible].
Third Ward—D. C. Fisher.
Fourth Ward—F. D. Smyser.
Fifth Ward—Theodore F. Thieme.
Sixth Ward—F. V. Culbertson.
Seventh Ward—W. F. Graeter.
Eighth Ward—G. R. Hench.
Ninth Ward—P. A. Randall.
Tenth Ward—S. F. Bowser.
Spy Run District—John B. Reiss.

Each member of this committee is empowered to appoint solicitors sufficient to thoroughly canvass every district, and all will meet upon call within a few days and the sub-committees will be assigned to the several districts, so that the work may be thoroughly and systematically done. This means that when the canvass is officially begun on February 11 there will be a small army of more than 150 active, energetic solicitors in the field. It means, also, that every business man, every property owner, every society, every wage-earner so far as possible, will be urged and expected to give such aid as is possible to the enterprise.

The project is to be a peoples' movement—a gigantic enterprise in which every citizen of the city shall be vitally interested, and which shall benefit every resident of Fort Wayne. The project will not be allowed to lag. The auditorium will cost something like $100,000, but no funds will be expended until there is an absolute assurance of success in raising the full amount necessary. Every subscriber is thus protected in his subscription, for there is a provision that should the committee fail in its efforts, subscriptions are to be returned to those who made them. The committee is certain, however, that the people of Fort Wayne will not permit that admirable project to come short of a magnificent success.

A CAUSE OF HEADACHE.

One Very Common Cause Generally Overlooked.

Headache is a symptom, an indication of derangement or disease in some organ, and the cause of the headache is difficult to locate because so many diseases have headache as a prominent symptom; derangement of the stomach and liver, heart trouble, kidney disease, lung trouble, eye strain or ill fitting glasses all produce headaches and if we could always locate the organ which is at fault the cure of obstinate headaches would be a much simpler matter.

However, for that form of headache called frontal headache, pain back of the eyes and in forehead, the cause is now known to be catarrh of the head and throat; when the headache is located in back of head and neck it is often caused from catarrh of the stomach or liver.

At any rate catarrh is the most common cause of such headaches and the cure of the catarrh causes a prompt disappearance of the headaches.

There is at present no treatment for catarrh so convenient and effective as Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, a new internal remedy in tablet form, composed of antiseptics like Eucalyptol, Guaiacol and Blood Root which act upon the blood and cause the elimination of the catarrhal poison from the system through the natural channels.

Mrs. Cora Ainsley, a prominent school teacher in one of our normal schools, speaks of her experience with catarrhal headaches and eulogizes Stuart's Catarrh Tablets as a cure for them. She says: "I suffered daily from severe frontal headache and pain in the back of the eyes, at times so intensely as to incapacitate me in my daily duties. I had suffered from catarrh more or less for years, but never thought it was the cause of my headaches, but finally became convinced that such was the case because the headaches were always worse whenever I had a cold or fresh attack of catarrh.

"Stuart's Catarrh Tablets were highly recommended to me as a safe [illegible] and I [illegible] fifty cent boxes which I procured from my druggist. I was surprised and delighted to find that both the catarrh and headaches had [illegible]."

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Jan. 29.—The market was unsettled by the violent opening break in St. Paul and by the nervous tone of steel and wire. St. Paul on the sale of 4,000 shares was quoted at 152 1/2 and 152 compared with 154 1/4 last night and it quickly fell to 150 1/2 on subsequent transactions. Northern Pacific and the Grangers lost from 1 to 1 1/2 in sympathy. The dealings in steel and wire were large and the fluctuations feverish, an opening loss [illegible] was recovered and [illegible] took them to [illegible] declined a point.

In the general list changes were fractional and a good deal divided, a number of important stocks showing [illegible].

Northern Pacific and [illegible] point each.

When purchases of 30 and 150 respectively were made for Steel and Wire and St. Paul, buying to cover rallied [illegible] 152 3/4. The general market [illegible] off, notably in specialties, particularly Consolidated Gas and Federal Steel, which yielded two points each. Substantial recoveries were subsequently made by Manhattan, Brooklyn Transit, Federal Steel, and People's Gas of 1a 1 1/2, and some other stocks which had been depressed sharply made full recoveries.

Price movements were governed by the fluctuations in St. Paul. That stock after extending its rally to 152 reacted to 151 and dragged the other grangers down to the lowest again. The general market was forced to yield, especially for the tractions, steel stocks, Northern Pacific and Kansas and Texas preferred. When the offerings of St. Paul decreased, the stock worked up fractionally, as did the general market. Some large blocks of Southern Pacific were taken around 46 and Mobile and Ohio rose 3 1/2 points. Bonds were dull and irregular.

The election sheriffs for the railroad election to be held a week from today have been selected by the several county chairmen.

SMILE HAUNTS HIM STILL

DICK SCHRECK BEAMS FAIR ON THE MAYOR.

With a smile that spread over his face like a plate full of pancake batter and trickled down the back of his neck, Dick Schreck said "Good morning" to the mayor at police court this morning. That smile did the business and captivated the mayor from the jump brought him up standing like a two year old at the draw gate. Dick admitted that he had been drinking some but related how scandalously good he had been ever since he was up before and he promised to inaugurate a period of reform that would break all previous records if he was allowed to go and then as spring that smile once more. It was irresistable and Dick walked away rejoicing, the smile leaving a trail behind him like the tail of a comet.

Alexander Jackson was unfortunate in not being the possessor of a smile incubator. Alexander was also handicapped by a note from his wife to the mayor asking that he be locked up until he got sober. Alex. was on the war path yesterday afternoon and procured a gun with which he terrorized the denizens in the vicinity of the Rudisill bridge on Spy Run avenue. He emitted a few whoops and declared that he was a very bad man and was likely to eat up a few women and children unless somebody fed him candy. He was brought down to see the captain and the mayor told him to rest up his appetite about sixteen days in the county jail.

Henry Rehling reported that a lap robe had been stolen from his buggy standing on the corner of Maumee avenue and Harmer street.

Officer Paul yesterday afternoon found a marble slab on Calhoun street. It evidently belonged to a dressing case or wash stand and had probably dropped from some moving van or furniture wagon.

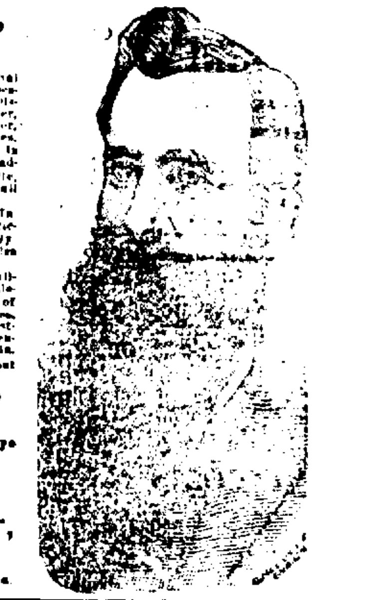

A driver for the City Trucking company yesterday broke the fire alarm box on the corner of Calhoun and Jefferson streets. He was driving a truck and in attempting to turn out for a car his vehicle swung in such a manner as to strike the box. The trucking company will be required to replace the box and as they cost $75 each the accident will prove an expensive one if the box is entirely ruined.

Warren Keplinger, representing the Canton-Cleveland Brick company, was a visitor at the city hall this morning.

SAFETY, SPEED AND COMFORT

In railway travel means a great deal to the public. These are synonyms of the Nickel Plate road which superior management has forged to the front as one of the great trunk lines from Buffalo to Chicago. A great convenience recently inaugurated on dining cars of this popular line is the American club meal plan, which presents to the passenger a varied menu, ranging in price from 35 cents to $1.00. It is already well known to the traveling public that no excess fares are charged on this road. Write, wire, 'phone or call on nearest agent. C. A. Asterlin, T. P. A., Fort Wayne, Ind.

IMPROVING PLANT

PAUL PULLEY COMPANY ADDS MACHINERY.

MR. D. J. TIMLIN HONORED

HIS FOREMEN PRESENT HIM WITH DIAMOND PIN.

WABASH SHOPMAN INJURED

JOHN SMITHERS HIT WITH A SLEDGE HAMMER.

The Paul Manufacturing company is making some important additions to the equipment of its factory at Sixth and Calhoun streets. New machinery is being added and that already there is being rearranged. A "blower system" for carrying shavings and dust to the boiler room is being installed at a cost of $1,000. The company will increase its force of workmen also when the improvements now in progress are completed. Business is good with the firm and is constantly increasing.

GRIP TAKES FIRMER HOLD.

The grip, which had loosened its grasp upon the shopmen for a couple days, was apparently only doing so to throw the men off their guard. Last night it renewed its hold with a firmer grasp and as a result the sick lists are more lengthy this morning than they were yesterday and Saturday. At the Pittsburg shops new names on the sick list are M. C. Petgen, F. C. Treuchet, C. Wellman, J. Moore, P. Dierstein, A. J. Bobay, G. Schmidt, W. F. Goers, J. Enoch and C. J. Mathien. At the Wabash shops some of the departments were in better shape than they have been for several days, while one, the boiler shop, was more seriously crippled. This morning there were thirteen names on the absentee list. The Bass shops, Electric works, Organ factory, Olds Wagon works and Kerr Murray works are also suffering from lack of workmen on account of the grip, but are not so seriously affected as the railway shops.

STRUCK WITH A HAMMER.

John Smithers, an employe in the Wabash boiler shop, received a bad cut back of his right ear yesterday. He was accidently struck with a hammer in the hands of David Roche, a fellow workman. The blow put Mr. Smithers into a dazed condition for awhile, but he soon revived. He is now at his home, 121 St. Martin street.

MR. TIMLIN HONORED.

Concerning a gentleman well known in railway circles in Fort Wayne, the American Tribune, of Newark, Ohio, says:

"General Foreman D. J. Timlin, of the Baltimore and Ohio mechanical department, was given a very pleasant surprise by about a hundred of his railroad friends at his home, on East Main street. That Mr. Timlin's services as a foreman were greatly appreciated was clearly shown by his being presented with a beautiful diamond stud. Mr. Timlin is very popular and well liked among the men. The evening was spent in music and a general good time. Mr. Timlin leaves tomorrow for Waco, Texas, where he has accepted a position as master mechanic on one of the railroads in Texas. He came here last May and had gained many friends.

"Failing to find relief from the grip with old methods, I took Dr. Miles' Pain Pills, Nervine and Nerve and Liver Pills and was permanently cured."—Gust. Egan, Jackson, Mich.

"After suffering for two months from a severe attack of grip, I found quick relief and a lasting cure by using Dr. Miles' Nervine, Pain Pills and Heart Cure."—Harry Abbott, Cincinnati, Ohio.

"Grip made me very weak and nervous, with tightness of chest and headache. Dr. Miles' Pain Pills and Nervine gave me quick relief."—Mrs. Clarinda Butler, W. Wheeling, O.

"I had grip three months; could not sleep; pain all over and headaches very bad. Dr. Miles' Nervine, Pain Pills and Liver Pills made me well."—Mrs. E. C. Bowlby, Waterloo, Ind.

who are sorry to lose him, but wish him all the success possible in his new undertaking."

Mr. Timlin is now in Waco, where he assumes the office of master mechanic of the Texas Central road, which is destined to become one of the most important railways in that state. It extends from Sabine Pass, on the gulf coast, to Las Vegas, N. M., but is not completed the entire distance. The night preceding Mr. Timlin's departure from Newark, sixteen of the shop foremen gave him a banquet.

JAY M'CRACKEN OUT.

Jay McCracken, cashier of the Pennsylvania local offices, appeared at his office yesterday and was given a hearty greeting by the men employed there. A few weeks ago it was feared Mr. McCracken would not be able to return to his duties, so serious was his condition. He suffered from the effects of a too early resumption of work after passing through a very severe illness. Mr. McCracken will resume the regular duties of his office next Friday. During Mr. McCracken's absence, Jack Foster was the acting cashier.

FRONTAL BONE FRACTURED.

Hubert Kuper sustained a fracture of the frontal bone yesterday at the Organ works, where he is employed. While walking across one of the rooms he slipped upon the smooth floor and fell, striking on his forehead. The injury rendered him unconscous and in that condition he was conveyed to his home, on Monroe street, where Dr. Schilling attended him. Dr. Schilling believes Mr. Kuper will recover, notwithstanding the seriousness of his injury.

FLOUR AND COPPER MOVING.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana road is turning over at this point a great lot of freight to the Nickel Plate. Yesterday it brought down from the north and turned over to the Nickel Plate twenty-six car loads of flour and copper. The flour came from the Pillsbury & Washburn mills in Minneapolis. To the average citizen the query arises, Why does the Grand Rapids, a Pennsylvania line turn over all this eastbound business to the Nickel Plate, a Vanderbilt line? Last year all the Minneapolis flour handled by the Grand Rapids and Indiana road went east from Fort Wayne over the Nickel Plate road.

STOCKMEN'S RETURN PASSES.

So much trouble has been occasioned by the illegitimate use of stock shippers' return transportation that the railroads propose to minimize the evil by refusing to check baggage thereon. There is no reason why this rule should not prevail. Transportation is given to the stock shipper because of the necessity for some one to attend to the stock in transit, and the return pass is issued more as a matter of courtesy, or, rather, obligation, than for any other reason. In a large number of cases the person who accompanies the stock to the market has no intention of returning, and the result is that the return transportation furnished is simply so much revenue thrown away by the road, as it takes the place of a ticket which would otherwise be purchased. Its principal effect will be to render the return ticket less valuable for sale, as, because of the baggage restriction, it will not be so readily sold within the time limit allowed.

Machinist Walter Adams is "at the bench" again in the Bass works. He spent a couple weeks in Ogdensburg, N. Y., putting the finishing touches upon a Bass engine installed there.

Pennsylvania train No. 20 yesterday afternoon had private car "Wisconsin," with President Earling, of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, within. He was en route to New York.

The Eagle Hoop company, of Sheldon, Ind., is about to install an electric light plant in its factory. Today the Fort Wayne Electric company sent a dynamo to that place for that purpose.

One of the new passenger engines of the Lake Shore last week hauled a train of eight passenger cars from Waterloo to Toledo, eighty miles, in eighty-two minutes, including two slow downs.

William Hayes, steam hammer operator, resigned his position at the Wabash shops last night. He has received an offer of a position in Pennsylvania from George A. Judy and will accept.

The Wisconsin Central, the Chicago Great Western and the Minneapolis and St. Louis steadily refuse to become members of the Western Passenger association, despite the extra inducements that have been offered.

R. Harwood, who was buried at Decatur, Ill., last week, had been in the railroad business for nearly forty years, first with the Wabash, the last eleven years as agent of the Indiana, Decatur and Western at Decatur.

Passenger conductors on many of the lines have received instructions to discontinue the practice of tearing off mileage before trains have started, in order the the book could be left behind for other members of the family.

Yesterday the Nickel Plate sent a special, consisting of an engine and two coaches to Hibbard, Ind., to carry a party of Culver students to Chicago. The special was in charge of Conductor Stone and Engineer Henry Studer.

Yesterday's storm caused Nickel Plate trains from the east to be late in reaching the city. No. 1 was two and a half hours and No. 3 was one and a quarter hours behind schedule time when they arrived here.

Engineers C. Lehr, C. A. Colmey and W. Beck and Firemen J. H. Knight, L. E. Wallick, C. E. Lurkin, Henry Saynor and George Bowser, of the Pittsburg, went on the sick list yesterday, being afflicted with the grip.

Yardmaster W. F. Waterson, of the Nickel Plate, was attacked by the grip Sunday night and is likely to be off duty a few days. James Nicholson has charge of the yards in the meantime. Brakeman L. P. Stone is also sick.

A few changes in assignments to engines have taken place on the Third district of the Nickel Plate. Engineer M. E. Cain now has engine 4, Engineer S. E. Kern has engine 9 and Engineer J. Furlong has engine 8.

Ross Gardner resumed the position of day conductor of the Pittsburg transfer engine gang in the down town yards this morning. For several weeks Mr. Gardner was engaged upon special work for the company which kept him out of the city most of the time.

Local freight business is picking up at a rapid rate and truckmen at some of the warehouses are having all the business they can attend to. The Pennsylvania was compelled to add another trucking crew to its warehouse force and twelve crews are now at work there.

Last week the last section of the Baltimore and Ohio between Philadelphia and its western terminals was laid with heavy rails. Near Baltimore the road is now using rails weighing 110 pounds per yard, on the Philadelphia division ninety pounds per yard, and on all the other divisons eighty-five pounds.

Business for the Pennsylvania company has taken Capt. H. M. Diehl to Pittsburg to remain a few days. Captain Diehl will soon leave upon an air-brake instruction trip. His car, which has been remodeled, will soon be finished and be one of the most thoroughly equipped air-brake cars in the United States.

Passenger Brakeman A. B. Tourley, who has been ill three or four weeks, will tomorrow commence instructing trainmen on the western division of the Pittsburg road in the use and care of the steam heating apparatus on trains. He will be on the road constantly in this capacity for a week or two and then resume his regular duties.

Indianapolis Journal: "The Pennsylvania now has 1,800 locomotives and will build 200 more this year. In this respect the Pennsylvania will be the only road in the world having engine numbers corresponding with the year dates of the twentieth century, as the Pennsylvania keeps but very few dead numbers on the list."

Indianapolis Journal: "The speculative possibilities of stock of the Wabash lines, in view of the fact that it is the only remaining independent road to Kansas City and also a strong rival of the Vanderbilt lines in the central states, makes a nucleus or which to build a variety of rumors, but the most plausible one is that it is to be made a strong ally of the Lackawanna road, over which through service is now operated."

"Mrs. Pinkham Saved me from an Operation."

Hospitals in our great cities are sad places to visit.

Three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow-white beds are women and girls.

Why should this be the case?

Because they have neglected themselves.

Every one of these patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing down feeling, pain at the left or right of the womb, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back. All of these things are indications of an unhealthy condition of the ovaries or womb.

Do not drag along at home or in your place of employment until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an examination and possible operation. Build up the female system, cure the derangements which have signified themselves by danger signals, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from the hospital. Read the letter here published with the full consent of the writer, and see how she escaped the knife by a faithful reliance on Mrs. Pinkham's advice and the consistent treatment of her medicines.

Mrs. Knapp tells of her Great Gratitude.

"Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—I have received much benefit from using your Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. After my child was born, blood poison set in, which left me with granulated inflammation of the womb and congested ovaries. I had suffered from suppressed and painful menstruation from a girl. The doctors told me the ovaries would have to be removed. I took treatment two years to escape an operation, but still remained in miserable health in both body and mind, expecting to part with my reason with each coming month. After using one bottle of the Compound, I became entirely rid of the trouble in my head. I continued to use your remedies until cured.

"The last nine months have been passed in perfect good health. This, I know, I owe entirely to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"My gratitude is great indeed to the one to whom so many women owe their health and happiness."—Mrs. F. M. Knapp, 1529 Kinnickinnic Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.

GAVE ITS SUPPORT

SOLDIERS', SONS' AND CITIZENS' CLUB ON RECORD.

FAVORS CHARTER CHANGES

AND INCIDENTALLY THROWS A FEW CHOICE BOQUETS.

LIVELY MEETING LAST NIGHT

COL. ROBERTSON SPEAKS FOR COL. OAKLEY.

The Soldiers' Sons' and Citizens' Republican club held a meeting last evening, and there was sufficient variety in the proceedings to make the session a lively one. Primarily, the club went on record as unqualifiedly in favor of the proposed amendments to the Fort Wayne charter, and with which the legislative committees are now wrestling. The resolution as introduced went through without a dissenting vote, and was as follows:

"Whereas, The Soldiers, Sons and Citizens club of Fort Wayne is a political organization created and established for the purpose of upholding and defending the principles of republicanism; that its membership is composed of valiant soldiers who fought for the union to save it from dismemberment; that its loyal and patriotic sons are worthy offsprings of courageous and valiant soldiers—their fathers and their sires—that its citizens are always regardful of each and every civil right guaranteed to them as sovereign people under the state and federal constitutions.

"And, whereas, [illegible] the soldier, son, and citizen, [illegible] ing, as the forefathers, that taxation without representation is both unfair an unjust, an in violation of the principles of popular government,

"And, whereas, There is now pending before the legislature of Indiana a bill for enactment designed for the purpose of securing more equal representation, more economical administration of public affairs, to lighten the burdens of taxation and secure a non-partisan control of the fire and police departments.

"Therefore, be it resolved, That we the members and representatives of the Soldiers, Sons and Citizens Republican club of Fort Wayne hereby pledge our support and extend our sympathy to the promoters of the movement to establish and maintain a higher character of municipal government in Fort Wayne an dthat it is tne sense of this body that these principles ought to and of right should become a part of the statutory law of the state of Indiana."

A NEW SECRETARY.

L. P. Sharp, who was recently elected secretary of the club, tendered his resignation, giving as his reason that business so frequently called him from the city that it was impossible for him to attend the meetings. Homer Stewart was elected to succeed Mr. Sharp.

President Hoham had appointed his cabinet or advisory committee, when some member raised the point that the club's approval was necessary before the appointments could stand. This was discussed at length and with some vigor, while one or two resignations were offered. It was finally ended with the withdrawl of the resignations and permitting the president's appointments to stand without question.

In connection with the resolutions endorsing the proposed amendments to the city charter, the fight came in for a pretty general discussion and there was some inclination to criticise Col. C. B. Oakley for his part in opposing the expressed wishes of his party leaders in Fort Wayne. Col. R. S. Robertson, however, spoke in Col. Oakley's behalf, protesting against the unkind criticism which had been directed against the ex-mayor.

PIONEER SERIOUSLY ILL.

CAPTAIN REESE COMING HOME.

ABOUT THE COURT HOUSE.

Sarah B. Tousley this morning filed a complaint against her husband, I. N. Tousley, asking for a divorce and custody of their minor children. Mrs. Tousley filed a similar complaint last October, but afterwards a reconciliation took place and the case was yesterday dismissed in the superior court. The complaint filed this morning alleges that they were married in 1885 and lived together until January 27, 1901; that defendant for ten years has been cruel and abusive, sometimes knocking her down; that for two years he has failed to provide for herself and children, although earning good wages, and makes other specific charges.

The jury in the case of Towne vs. Ellison returned a verdict for the plaintiff in the sum of $250.

The divorce case of Sarah B. Tousley vs. I. N. Tousley filed last October, was dismissed yesterday by Judge Aiken.

The superior court jury has been sent home to report again a week from next Thursday.

Judge Aiken adjourned court at noon there being no cases set for trial today. This afternoon the judge is supposed to be working great havoc among the rabbits in Lafayette township.

The will of the late Frank Hoham has been filed for probate. He leaves his realestate to his three daughters.
